BIRD'S EYE

WATT HAS A BIRD'S EYE
VIEW OF THE GAME

VIEW OF

BY TERESA VARLEY
STEELERS.COM

THE GAME

For a minute, it sounded like defensive tackle Cameron Heyward was joking about his teammate, linebacker T.J. Watt, when he said he has such a good feeling for his opponent movements and tendencies that he probably knows what they had for breakfast this morning.

Crazy part is, he isn't that far off.

Maybe Watt isn't aware if they had pancakes or eggs this morning, but he knows enough after endless film study of their tendencies and every move they make on the field.

"He's just got a bird's eye view," said Heyward. "He's covering it all from stances to formations to what they're eating for breakfast. You just never know."

"He just approaches the game where every detail counts."

Watt laughed at the perception as he sat back in an oversized leather chair at the Steelers hotel in Dublin, Ireland just a few weeks back.

Then, he caved a bit, knowing Heyward wasn't that far off.

"I think it's just being obsessed with the process," said Watt. "I've always been fascinated with the work that goes into what creates the result, and that's just learning from watching my brothers (J.J. Watt and Derek Watt) succeed over the years. Being able to have that behind the curtain view of what it takes to be successful."

"I think that's really driven me."

That driven aspect of his personality, that obsession, is something that shines during the season, but it's also something that can be consuming.

And it starts with his film study.

You will be hard pressed to find a player not just in the Steelers locker room, but league wide, who puts in the time and dedication Watt does to film study.

He enjoys it. He loves it.

Even if sometimes it's a lot.

"Too much, I mean too much," said Watt. "I do so much that I have my wife Dani help me watch film, especially game copies. But I think it's just being very regimented in what I do each and every day. Every day has a different set of film study, whether it's tackle alignments, tackle stances, tight ends. Just all mannerisms. Obviously, formation structures and cues."

"And then you get into the actual TV copies where we're trying to listen to the snap count and things of that nature."

He isn't worried about it.

"Absolutely you make sure you don't give anything away," said Watt. "But when your fastball's damn good, you don't have to worry about it. That's what I think."

When it comes to his 'fastball,' his game is beyond compare.

"When you have to prepare for a player like him, you've got to know he takes it seriously," said Heyward. "He prepares for every situation, and he's going to find every weakness you do have on the offensive side of the ball."

"So, there's never any question that you have to be ready for T.J. Watt 60-plus minutes."

With the changes the Steelers made on defense this offseason, bringing in a handful of new players on the front and back end, there have been some adjustments that have had to be made by the unit as a whole just to adapt to each other.

For a player like Watt, that could be disruptive.

"HE'S COVERING IT ALL FROM STANCES TO FORMATIONS TO WHAT THEY'RE EATING FOR BREAKFAST..."

- CAMERON HEYWARD

While Watt likes to study the tendencies of others, he is one who has his own predictability.

His breakfast is predictable. Oatmeal is a staple.

Don't ask him to change his routine. Because if anyone is a creature of habit, it's Watt.

"I do like it, I do," admitted Watt. "I mean, it's a blessing and a curse at times for sure."

The key for him, though, is to make sure he doesn't allow that creature of habit approach to show in his play and let others see what he is doing.

Not for him, though.

"I think a lot of the new pieces are veteran guys, with a sprinkle of young guys," said Watt. "The sprinkle of young guys, the ones I work with more, are the guys up front. They all understand what Pittsburgh Steelers football is. I think that's a testament to the brand that has been built here over time and it's getting us all to gel and continue to play better."

"We're starting to play better and better football and we want to continue that trajectory as we continue to build a cohesive unit."

Among those young players Watt refers to are rookies Derrick Harmon, Yahya Black and Jack Sawyer. Watt is doing his part to help them adapt to the Steelers way and teach them the ins and outs, something he benefited from as a young player.

"It's paying back, giving back to the game," said Watt. "I had so many veterans that were great to me when I first got here. So, it's important for me to give back."

"It also keeps me engaged when I'm teaching younger guys how our defense is or how to pass rush."

Through his years with the team, and his role as a captain, Watt has developed into a player who doesn't hesitate to share with the younger players, whether it's advice, tips or constructive criticism to help them grow their game.

"I tell them things from personal experience," said Watt. "It comes from a good place. And I try to explain why, instead of just telling them not to do something."

"We have a great room, Yahya, D-Harm, Sawyer. Everybody's so great and receptive to getting coaching. Nobody's like, nah, I don't want to hear from you. So, that's been really cool. We just overall have a really good room."

It's not just a good room, it's a deep room, something that pays dividends for rotation up front.

"There's more distribution of reps this year," said Watt. "That has been really nice. I think especially in my room, specifically with Sawyer coming along. It's great to be able to trust him to take more and more reps. It allows us to be fresher in the fourth quarter, which is going to pay dividends, especially later in the season."

Watt has already worked with third-year linebacker Nick Herbig, helping to mold the outside rusher not just on the field, but giving him the path to follow to be successful off the field.

Now he is doing the same with Sawyer, the team's fourth-round draft pick out of Ohio State.

"I watch how he has molded Nick Herbig," said Heyward. "And now I see how much time he spends with Jack Sawyer. And that's not it."

"There are other guys, players like Julius (Welschhof), DeMarvin Leal and even Derrick Harmon. I think he wants to pour into those guys and make sure they really have a chance to succeed."

Pouring into younger players truly is something Watt enjoys. He is an open book for their questions, not wanting to keep any secrets because the more they know, the better the team is.

"It's cool. It really is to be around young guys who are hungry," said Watt. "Herb is an extremely hungry guy. He reminds me of myself. He's always wanting to learn and grow and get better. Even if he has a good game, he's trying to pick apart the plays that he didn't have as much success with and trying to figure out how he can continue to get better."

"Sawyer's falling in line as well. It just adds to that depth we were talking about."

It's depth that plays off each other well. Through the first two games of the season, Watt didn't have a single sack, although he has three over the last two games.

His lack of numbers wasn't because of what he was doing early on.

It's what opponents were doing.

Watt is known as a game-wrecker, and opposing offensive coordinators are doing everything in their power to come up with a plan to minimize his impact, and that often means double or triple teaming the All-Pro edge rusher.

When they do that, though, it opens up other players to make plays, including Sawyer who recorded his first career sack thanks in part to Watt.

"HE AFFECTS THE GAME IN SO MANY WAYS, EVEN WHEN IT MIGHT NOT SHOW UP ON A STAT SHEET BECAUSE HE'S THE BEST IN THE WORLD."

— JACK SAWYER

GAME WRECKER

OPPOSING OFFENSIVE COORDINATORS ARE DOING EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO COME UP WITH A PLAN TO MINIMIZE HIS IMPACT.

"He's always getting triple and quadrupled teamed," said Sawyer. "My sack, he had three guys on him, so I told him, thank you."

"He affects the game in so many ways, even when it might not show up on a stat sheet because he's the best in the world."

"So, obviously the team that we're playing is going to have a game plan for him or else he's going to destroy it. For him, he's been affecting the game in so many more ways than the average eye might see."

"He's the best in the world."

Herbig said it's like the Steph Curry effect, referring to the Golden State Warriors All-Star who continually draws attention from opponents to try and neutralize his impact.

"That's the impact right there. The attention he gets," said Herbig. "It's like Steph Curry. Teams picking him up with two guys. T.J.'s taking away from their game plan, which gives us opportunities to have one-on-ones."

"We know that T.J. is going to get triple teamed on almost every play, so we have to take advantage."

And there is plenty Watt wants to take advantage of this year, and it's the infusion of talent that he hopes allows for it.

For all the individual success he has had in his career, there is still one thing he wants.

A playoff win.

While he might obsess over games each week, he isn't allowing himself to obsess over getting that playoff victory. At least not anymore.

"It's everything. It really is," said Watt of striving for a postseason win. "I've had so much individual success, that it's the only thing at this point. It's just winning."

"But it's also not letting it control the here and now. I think in years past, it was almost too much of an obsession about the postseason that you lose sight at the end season."

"I want to take it one day at a time, one week at a time and handle that stuff once we get there."

"I feel like I can approach it that way now. It's part of being with a team that has so many great personalities, so many people that are fun to be around that we're just able to be in the moment."

And if there is ever a time Watt wants to be in the moment, it's now.

He and his wife Dani welcomed their first child, daughter Blakely, in March.

While it hasn't changed his approach to the game, to film study, or to anything surrounding football, it has changed life for him.

The minute his daughter's name was even mentioned, he went from focused on the game to a smiling, proud dad in a heartbeat.

"It's changed everything," said Watt. "The perspective has absolutely changed for the best. Honestly, it allows me once I'm home to be dad and unplug a little bit."

"I drop the obsession at times of football and film study. Even though I still find time to get in what I have to and more, from when I get home, I'm dad until she goes to bed, and then I'm allowed to switch over to football mode."

"There is just so much changing day-to-day. It really is unfortunate how much you are away. All offseason I was around her so much because you only work out and have treatment and then you have the rest of the day to relax and spend time with Blakely and Dani. But now that I'm in season, I leave before she's awake and then I get home and I'm only with her for an hour, maybe an hour and a half before she goes to bed."

"So, it's just cherishing as much time I can have with her, but also really respecting and appreciating my wife for all that she does for our family."

"When I walk in that door, I make sure I don't think football for a while. I do my best. It can be tough."

"Never too high, never too low is very relevant in my life right now."

HEAD COACH

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007. Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

In his 18 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A franchise known for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (36 years, 323 days), a record that held until it was eclipsed by Sean McVay in Super Bowl LVI (36 years, 20 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 17 of his first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 18 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive non-losing seasons. He has led the Steelers to a .500-or-better record in each of his 18 seasons as head coach. That is the third-longest streak of .500-or-better seasons by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has sent a total of 80 selections to the NFL's annual Pro Bowl, including the four players who received Pro Bowl honors for the 2024 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March 2013.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 186-108-2 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007—the second-best record in the NFL during that time span, behind only Andy Reid. His 186-108-2 regular-season record (.632) is the best start in franchise history.

Tomlin's 186 regular-season victories are the second-most among active NFL head coaches and tied for the 11th-most in League history. Tomlin's .632 regular-season win percentage is the ninth-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games).

Tomlin's 186 regular-season wins are tied for the second-most in a coach's first 18 career seasons. His .632 regular-season win percentage is the fifth-best by a head coach in his first 18 career seasons.

Tomlin, who ranks eight in NFL history with a regular-season record of 78 games over .500, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid and Marty Schottenheimer are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over .500 not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 31 current NFL franchises.

With a victory at Washington in Week 10 of 2024, Tomlin became the ninth head coach in NFL history to reach 180 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 284 games coached, which was the fifth-fewest games coached in League history to reach the milestone.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played seven regular-season games vs. 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular-season games played vs. 2024 playoff foes was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers' five victories vs. opponents that finished 2024 with a winning record were the fifth-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played eight regular-season games vs. 2023 playoff teams, including both four at home and four on the road. Pittsburgh's eight regular-season games played vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five teams in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more such games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' five regular-season wins vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team improved dramatically over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 16th-straight season of .500 or above with a record of 9-8. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 bye, and went 7-2 the rest of the way. Pittsburgh's offense boasted the best third-down conversion rate and the third-most rushing yards in the League from Weeks 10 through 18 after starting the season ranked 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved from ranking 29th in opponent yards per game to the stingiest defense in the League over the second half of the season, allowing an NFL-best 272.9 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in getting off the field over the last nine weeks, allowing the third-least third-down conversions (36) and tying for the second-most interceptions (12). The team's 20 interceptions on the season tied for the most in the League.

VICTORIES

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories.

Tomlin's .632 regular-season win percentage is the ninth-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games)

In 2021, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 9-7-1 record and captured a playoff berth for the 10th time in his Steelers career. For the fifth-straight season, the Steelers led the NFL in sacks (55). The Pittsburgh defense sat atop the League in red zone defense allowing touchdowns on just 50.14% of red zone trips. Offensively, Pat Freiermuth and Najee Harris set several rookie franchise records and were two of five rookies starting in Week 1 of the season.

In 2020, Tomlin became one of just two head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 14 consecutive non-losing seasons – joining Marty Schottenheimer (14, 1984-97). The Steelers began the season with an 11-0 win-streak, which culminated in a 12-4 regular-season record and Tomlin's ninth AFC North title. The 11-game winning streak (9/14/20-12/2/20) tied the longest regular season winning streak in franchise history. Over the past six seasons (2013-20), Tomlin has led the team to a 26-13 record in the month of December/January.

The Steelers offense dramatically improved in 2020, scoring at least 24 points in 11 regular season games after hitting the mark just five times in 2019. However, it was Pittsburgh's defense that once again showed its teeth, either topping or sharing the league lead in 20 different defensive categories including tackles for loss (103), sacks (56.0), interceptions (18), passes defended (84), quarterback pressures (198), defensive completion percentage (56.7%) and opposing QB rating (76.7). The unit also finished second in takeaways (27) and third in scoring defense (19.5).

Finishing the regular season as the AFC's No. 3 seed, Pittsburgh produced five Pro Bowlers—offensive linemen Maurkice Pouncey and David DeCastro and defenders Minkah Fitzpatrick, Cameron Heyward and T.J. Watt—marking the fourth consecutive season in which at least five Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl.

Pittsburgh was beset with injuries in 2019. The Steelers lost quarterback Ben Roethlisberger with a season-ending elbow injury in Week 2. Running back James Conner missed six games, wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster missed four games, and was sidelined for the majority of two others, and defensive end Stephon Tuitt missed the final 10 games of the season. Even backups – quarterback Mason Rudolph and running back Jaylen Samuels missed multiple games. Starting center Maurkice Pouncey missed three games. Starting left guard Ramon Foster and starting tight end Vance McDonald were both sidelined two games for concussions. Undrafted rookie free-agent Devlin Hodges was forced to play in eight games (six starts), and, despite an 0-3 start, Tomlin still led Pittsburgh to a record of 8-8.

Despite injuries, Pittsburgh's defense led or tied for the League-lead in sacks (54.0), quarterback hits (117), takeaways (36), fumble recoveries (17) and rush TDs allowed (7). The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), passing defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.74), passes defended (3rd, 83), yards per rush allowed (3rd, 3.79), forced fumbles (t-3rd, 19), tackles for loss (t-3rd, 90), opposing passer rating (4th, 80.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1), scoring defense (t-5th, 18.9) and offensive TDs allowed (5th, 30).

During the 2019 season, Tomlin reached 125 career wins in the fewest games (192) in team history, tying him with Bud Grant for the fifth-fewest games by an NFL head coach to secure 125 regular season wins. He was the third head coach in NFL history with 133 or more regular season wins in their first 13 seasons as a head coach, joining Tony Dungy: 139 and Shula: 138.

Tomlin led the Steelers to a record of 9-6-1 in 2018. With a Week 5 win against Atlanta, he and quarterback Ben Roethlisberger broke a tie with Chuck Noll and Terry Bradshaw for the most wins by a head coach-quarterback tandem in franchise history. The duo's 127 regular-season wins (2007-20) are now third-most by a head coach-quarterback pairing in NFL history, trailing only the tandems of Sean Payton/Drew Brees and Bill Belichick/Tom Brady.

Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes (34), pass completions (452) and passing yards (5,129) in 2018, while leading all NFL players in pass completions and passing yardage. Wide receiver Antonio Brown led the NFL with a single-season franchise record 15 TD catches. Brown and second-year wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster also made history, becoming the sixth wide receiver duo in NFL history and first in Steelers history to record 100 receptions and 1,000 yards apiece in a single season. Smith-Schuster was voted Team MVP for his breakout year.

With Tomlin at the helm, six Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl for their 2018 performances — the third consecutive season with at least five selections. Brown, running back James Conner, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva all received Pro Bowl accolades.

In 2017, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 13-3 record, including a 6-0 record against the AFC North, securing his sixth division title and a No. 2 seed in the AFC for the postseason. The team's 13 wins marked the most wins in a single season in the Tomlin era.

Under Tomlin's guidance, Roethlisberger became the eighth quarterback in NFL history to reach 50,000 passing yards, finishing the 2017 season with a career total of 51,065. Brown was voted team MVP for his outstanding performance and became the first Steeler to earn the honor four times (2011, '13, '15 and '17). Brown led the league with 1,533 receiving yards and set an NFL record for the most receptions (582) and receiving yards (7,848) by a player in any five-year span in League history. For the second straight season, running back Le'Veon Bell led the AFC in scrimmage yards per game (129.7) and surpassed his own Steelers single-season record for receptions by a running back with 85. Defensively, the team led the NFL and set a Steelers single-season record with 56 sacks in 2017.

For their efforts, Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell were named to the Pro Bowl along with kicker Chris Boswell, linebacker Ryan Shazier, and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva. Brown, Bell and DeCastro were also named AP All-Pro, along with Heyward. Heyward and fullback Roosevelt Nix were also added to the Pro Bowl roster prior to the game.

The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record in 2016, and won each of the team's final seven regular-season games, to secure the AFC North title and No. 3 seed in the AFC for the postseason. It marked the fifth time Tomlin led the Steelers to at least 11 wins in the regular season. Pittsburgh won its first two postseason games, vs. Miami in an AFC Wild Card Game and at Kansas City in an AFC Divisional Playoff, before falling to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game.

Bell was voted the Steelers' MVP for his 2016 efforts. He led the NFL in scrimmage yards per game (157.0), and he became the fastest player in NFL history to reach 3,000 rushing yards and 1,500 receiving yards in his career (38 games). In the Steelers' Week 14 victory at Buffalo in 2016, Bell set the single-game team record with 236 rushing yards and tied the single-game team mark with three rushing TDs.

Roethlisberger and Brown continued to etch their names in NFL history. Roethlisberger finished the season with the ninth-most passing TDs in NFL history (301) and the 10th-most passing yards in NFL history (46,814). Brown set numerous NFL records, including one for the most receptions in a player's first 100 career regular-season games (622) and one for the most receptions in NFL history by a player in any four-year span (481).

Tomlin also reached his 100th career win in 2016 and did so in the fewest games (157) in team history. He became the eighth head coach in NFL history to reach 100 regular-season wins in their first 10 seasons.

Despite significant injuries to multiple starters during the 2015 season, the Steelers finished with a 10-6 record (2nd in the AFC North) and advanced to the Divisional Round of the playoffs. The Steelers finished third in the NFL in total offense (1st in the AFC), while the defense posted 48 sacks under first-year defensive coordinator Keith Butler. The 48 sacks were the third most in the NFL in 2015.

In 2014, Tomlin orchestrated one of the top offensive outputs in team history. The Steelers broke numerous offensive records, including points scored (436), total yards (6,577), passing yards per game (301.6) and total first downs (379). On an individual basis in 2014, Tomlin guided Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell — who all made the Pro Bowl — to record-setting years.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs.

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 yards/game) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 yards/game).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it had been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Pouncey, Troy Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed (62.8 yds./game), points allowed (232), touchdowns allowed (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Santonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at home under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rush defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for TD passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998.

Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 TD catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February 2013 by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. Tomlin also participates in the annual ManUp Pittsburgh conference which encourages local men to be better fathers and role models.

Tomlin became the 9th head coach in NFL history to reach 180 career wins.

Heyward earned first-team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his career, recording 71 tackles, 8.0 sacks, 12 tackles for a loss, 20 quarterback hits and 11 pass defenses, which led all NFL defensive linemen.

It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

Watt was voted the team MVP for a record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. He also was named second-team All-Pro and finalist for NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Prior to his time in Pittsburgh, Austin served as defensive coordinator for the Detroit Lions (2014-17), before a one-year stint in the same role with the Cincinnati Bengals (2018).

Austin's college coaching career began as a graduate assistant at Penn State (1991-92). He held stints as the defensive backs coach at Wake Forest (1993-95), Syracuse (1996-98) and Michigan (1999-2002). Austin was a three-year starter and four-year letterman at safety for the University of Pittsburgh from 1983-87. He earned a bachelor's degree in communications from Pittsburgh in 1988. Arthur Smith, previous head coach for the Atlanta Falcons for three years (2021-23), is in his second season as the Steelers' offensive coordinator in 2025. This marks his 17th year in the National Football League coaching ranks.

The Steelers' offense in 2024 showed signs of progress under Smith. Pittsburgh improved in total offense, rush offense and scoring offense in 2024.

The Steelers leaned heavily on the run, ranking 11th in the League in rush offense (127.4 yards/game) and logging the fourth-most rushing attempts in the NFL.

Pittsburgh's 317.2 yards/game was up from 304.3 in 2023. The Steelers also averaged 22.4 points/game last season, up from 17.9 points/game in 2023. The Steelers threw 21 TD passes in 2024. They had just 13 in 2023. Pittsburgh threw just six interceptions. Only the Chargers (three) and Ravens (four) threw fewer.

Under Smith, the Falcons led the NFL in fewest penalties (2022), ranked third in successful play rate on rushing attempts, based on EPA, (2022), finished third in rushing yards/game (2022), ninth in rushing yards/game (2023), 10th in third-down conversion rate (2022), 13th in third-down conversion rate (2023) and 13th in passing yards/attempt (2023).

Smith served under four different Titans head coaches, working his way up from his 2011 position of defensive assistant/quality control coach. He also spent time as an offensive assistant/quality control coach (2012), offensive line/tight ends assistant (2013), and assistant tight ends coach (2014-15) before taking over as tight ends coach during the 2015 season and holding the position through 2018.

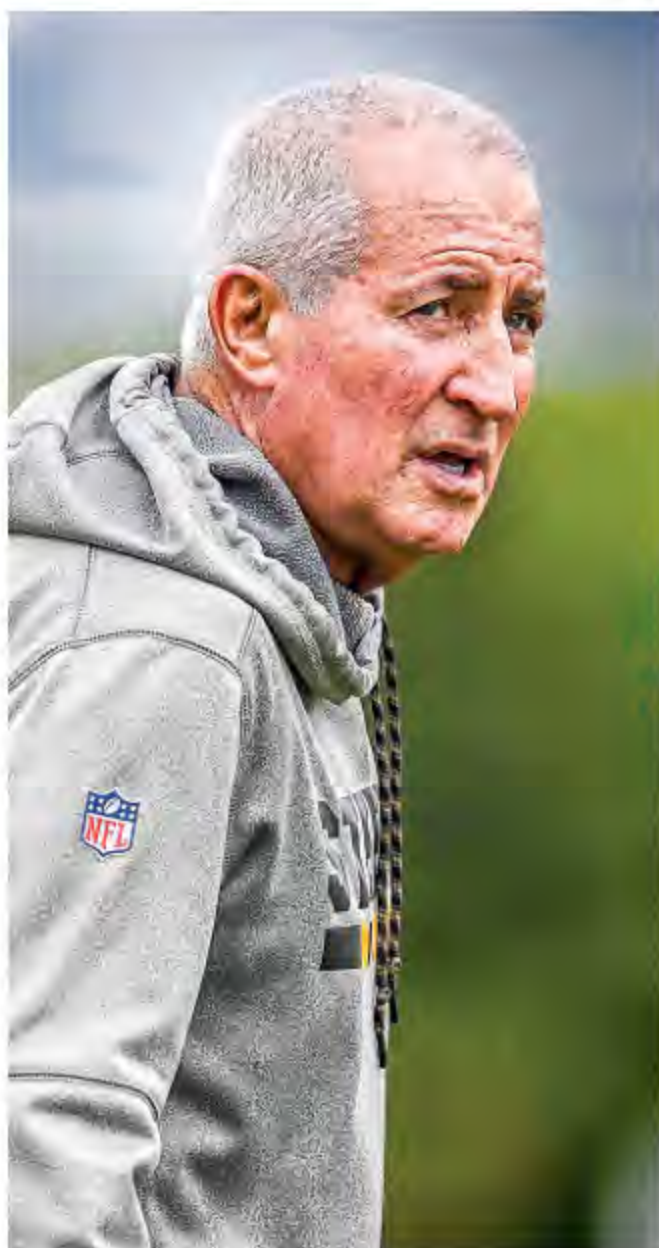

Prior to joining the Titans, Smith spent two years as the defensive quality control coach for the Washington Commanders under Joe Gibbs (2007-08). In addition to his coaching role, he also worked as a college scouting assistant in Washington in 2007. In 2010, Smith worked at Ole Miss as an administrative assistant/defensive intern, working primarily with the linebackers.

Born and raised in Memphis, Tenn., Smith graduated from North Carolina where he played offensive line and later joined the Tar Heels coaching staff as a graduate assistant (2006), working with the offensive line.

ARTHUR
SMITH
OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

DANNY SMITH

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Danny Smith is in his 13th season with the Steelers as the special teams coordinator. Smith was hired on January 31, 2013.

Since joining the Steelers in 2015, kicker Chris Boswell is 272-of-309 overall on field goal attempts (88.0%), including 123-of-153 (80.4%) from 40 yards or longer. He ranks second in field goal percentage (88.0%) among all NFL kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts since the start of the 2015 season. Boswell's 88.0 field goal percent ranks first in Steelers history among kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts. He has registered a franchise-record 10 career game-winning field goals (last five min. of the fourth quarter or overtime for a lead change.)

In 2024, Boswell led the NFL in field goals made (41), points by a kicker (158) and field goal percentage (93.2, min. 35 FGA), and also ranked second in field goals attempted (44). His 158 points are tied for the fifth-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. His 41 field goals made in 2024 are the second-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.

Prior to joining Pittsburgh, Smith served as the Washington Football Team's special teams coordinator from 2004-2012. He helped establish Washington's special teams as one of the top coverage and return units in the NFL.

Born and raised in Pittsburgh, Smith attended Pittsburgh Central Catholic High School. He coached at Central Catholic (1977-78), helping tutor future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Marino. Smith is married to Elaine, of Ambridge, Pa. They have three children, Erin, Courtney and Jason.

TOM ARTH

QUARTERBACKS COACH

Tom Arth is in his second season as the Steelers' quarterbacks coach in 2025.

The Steelers completely made over their quarterback room in 2024.

The Steelers went from averaging 186.1 yards passing/game with 13 TD passes and nine interceptions in 2023 to 192.0 passing yards/game with 21 TD passes and just six interceptions.

The combination of Russell Wilson and Justin Fields also rushed 105 times for 444 yards and seven more TDs.

Arth came to Pittsburgh from the L.A. Chargers where he served as passing game specialist for two seasons (2022-23). He helped the Chargers rank fifth in passing offense (251.2 ypg.) and No. 11 in total offense (344.3 ypg.) over his tenure. Arth helped quarterback Justin Herbert continue to set records, as no player has more completions (1,613) or passing yards (18,134) over the first four seasons of a career. Herbert's 114 passing TDs and 125 total TDs rank second in League history – only Dan Marino (142) and Josh Allen (135) registered more, respectively, over their first four seasons in the NFL.

Arth holds nine years of collegiate head coaching acumen and three seasons of NFL playing experience to the offensive staff. He spent three years (2019-21) as the head coach at the University of Akron following two seasons (2017-18) at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. His first four years were spent at his alma mater, John Carroll University (2013-16).

Over Arth's four seasons as head coach at John Carroll, he posted a 40-8 record and earned three postseason appearances. He was named Ohio Athletic Conference Coach of the Year twice (2013, 2016) — including National Coach of the Year recognition in 2016.

Arth started four seasons at quarterback for the Blue Streaks, setting 18 school records over his playing career. He earned consensus All-America recognition, was named to D3Football.com's All-Decade Team (2000s) and was inducted into the university's athletic Hall of Fame in 2013.

Arth signed with the Indianapolis Colts in 2003, spending three seasons (2003-05) as a backup to Peyton Manning.

Arth and his wife, Lauren, have five children, Carolina, Tommy, Kate, Patrick and Elizabeth.

ZACH AZZANNI

WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

Zach Azzanni is in his second season as the Steelers' wide receivers coach in 2025.

Azzanni mentored the breakout of third-year wideout Calvin Austin III in 2024. Austin III finished the season with 36 receptions for 548 yards and four TDs, averaging 15.2 yards/catch and showing he could be a big-play contributor. Watt was voted the team MVP for a team-record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. EDDIE FAULKNER

RUNNING BACKS COACH

Eddie Faulkner is in his seventh season as the running backs coach for the Steelers, after being hired on January 17, 2019.

The running back group was assured of being a big part of every game plan under first-year offensive coordinator Arthur Smith in 2024. That proved to be the case, as only the Eagles and Ravens ran the ball a higher percentage than the 52.1 the Steelers posted in 2024.

Najee Harris led the way with 263 carries for 1,043 yards and six TDs. He also caught 36 passes for 283 yards. It was Harris' fourth-consecutive 1,000-yard season to open his career, making him just the 14th player in league history to do so.

Faulkner mentored the tandem of Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since Walter Abercrombie and Earnest Jackson in 1986.

In 2022, with Faulkner's guidance, Harris eclipsed 1,000 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, becoming the first running back in franchise history to do so in each of his first two seasons.

Faulkner oversaw the development of Harris in 2021 who led the NFL in touches (377), led all NFL running backs in catches (74) and finished the season with the most rushes (307), rushing yards (1,200), catches and receiving yards (467) by a rookie running back in franchise history, culminating in a trip to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Steelers, Faulkner spent six years, 2013-18, at NC State as the school's tight ends/fullbacks/special teams coordinator.

Faulkner spent the 2012 season at the University of Wisconsin coaching the Badgers' tight ends.

In his third season in 2022, Martin worked with a defense that consistently improved over the course of the year, holding opponents to 17 points or less through its final seven games.

With Martin's assistance, Watt became the NFL's 2021 Defensive Player of the Year, tallying a career-high 22.5 sacks, 21 tackles for loss and five forced fumbles.

In 2020, Martin assisted with one of the top pass-rushing units in the NFL, which included the tandem of Watt and Bud Dupree, who combined for 23.0 sacks, 56 quarterback hits and 31 tackles for loss.

Prior to joining the Steelers in 2016, Martin spent a year as a recruiting graduate assistant at the University of Missouri in 2015, where he played linebacker from 2010-14. Pat Meyer is entering his fourth season as the Steelers' offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on February 15, 2022.

Meyer, who boasted 20 years of coaching experience prior to his arrival in Pittsburgh, including nine in the NFL, joined the Steelers after two seasons with the Carolina Panthers as their offensive line coach (2020-21). He also coached offensive line in the NFL with the L.A. Chargers (2017-19) and Chicago Bears (2013-14).

The Steelers selected three offensive linemen in the 2024 NFL Draft, taking tackle Troy Fautanu in the first round, center Zach Frazier in the second and guard Mason McCormick in the fourth, one year after the selection of Broderick Jones in the first round and Spencer Anderson in the seventh.

The Steelers started four different line combinations in the first six games because of injuries, but Meyer mentored Frazier with being if not the best rookie offensive linemen in the NFL in 2024, then most certainly the best center.

Isaac Williams is entering his fifth season as the Steelers' assistant offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on March 15, 2022.

McCormick moved into the starting lineup at right guard when James Daniels suffered a season-ending Achilles' tendon injury and played well, particularly showing his chops as a run blocker.

Meyer's unit blocked for Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, who each eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. They're the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season.

In his first year in Pittsburgh, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Prior to Carolina, Meyer served as the offensive line coach for the Chargers for three years, and also spent two seasons with the Buffalo Bills (2015-16).

Meyer began his NFL coaching career with the Chicago Bears, first as an assistant offensive line coach in 2013 before taking over the primary coaching duties in 2014.

Meyer spent one season in the Canadian Football League in 2012, where was an offensive line coach and offensive coordinator for the Montreal Alouettes.

Meyer began coaching as a graduate assistant at Memphis in 1997, where he served multiple roles.

Meyer led the strength and conditioning program at NC State for six years (2000-05) before becoming their offensive line coach in 2006.

In 2007, Meyer headed the strength and conditioning staff at Florida State. He returned to his alma mater, Colorado State, for three seasons (2008-11).

Meyer played offensive line at Colorado State from 1991-94, where he was a three-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection.

Williams aided a unit that blocked for the tandem of Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since 1986.

In his first year with the Steelers, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Williams came to Pittsburgh after collegiate stints at North Carolina Central University (2021), Morgan State (2018-20) and Northern Colorado (2016-17).

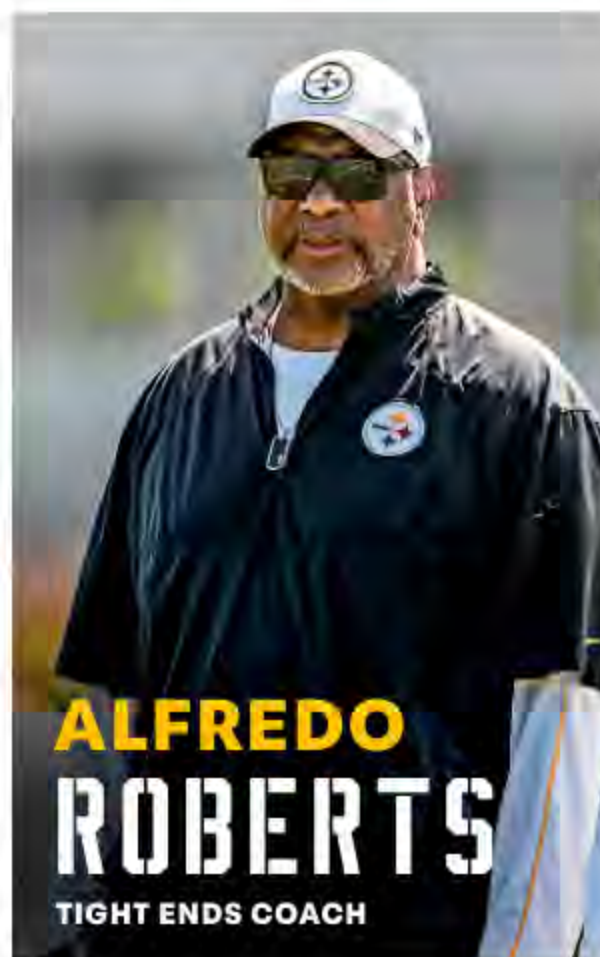

Prior to North Carolina Central, Williams spent three seasons (2018-20) in the MEAC as an offensive line coach/run game coordinator at Morgan State.

While the Bears did not compete in 2020 due to COVID, Williams developed All-MEAC tackle Joshua Miles in 2019, who participated in the East-West Shrine game and was selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the seventh round of the 2019 NFL Draft.

Williams was a four-year starting offensive lineman and three-time captain at Alcorn State (2008-11). He earned all-conference honors as a junior and senior, and graduated with honors. Williams played one season with the Laredo Rattlers of the Arena Football League in 2013.

Williams earned his bachelor's degree in nutrition and dietetics from Alcorn State University in 2012, and then earned his master's degree in education leadership from the University of Northern Colorado in 2017.

Williams has also coached at Millsaps College, Clinton High School (Mississippi) and Sumner Hill Jr. High School (Mississippi).

Roberts, who starts his 27th year of coaching overall, guided Pat Freiermuth and a quartet of tight ends in 2024. Freiermuth led the Steelers in receptions with 65 for 653 yards and a team-best seven TDs. His reception total was tied for eighth-most among NFL tight ends, while his TD total was tied for fourth-most at the position. As a group, the tight ends caught 96 passes for 933 yards and 10 TDs, a big uptick from the 2023 season when they combined for just 62 catches for 536 yards and two scores.

In 2023, Roberts managed a position group beset by injuries. Freiermuth finished the season with 32 receptions for 308 yards (9.6 avg.) and two TDs.

In 2022, Roberts saw another year of success from Freiermuth, who despite injuries, finished the season sixth in receptions (63) and receiving yards (732) among all NFL tight ends. His 63 catches also ranked fourth-most by a tight end in a single season in franchise history.

In 2021, Freiermuth – under Roberts' guidance – set a franchise record for receptions (60) and receiving yards by a rookie tight end (497). His seven touchdowns accounted for almost as many as his entire tight end draft class combined (8).

Roberts spent four seasons with the L.A. Chargers as their running backs coach (2017-19) and tight ends coach (2020). He also coached in Indianapolis (2012-15), Tampa Bay (2009-11), Cleveland (2007-08) and Jacksonville (2003-06).

Over his 20 seasons coaching in the NFL, Roberts has mentored multiple Pro Bowl players at tight end and running back.

KEVIN STEFANSKI
HEAD COACH

AP/Associated Press

PRO CAREER: Two-time NFL Coach of the Year Kevin Stefanski enters his sixth season as the Cleveland Browns head coach after being named the 18th full-time head coach in franchise history by Managing and Principal Partners Dee and Jimmy Haslam on Jan. 13, 2020. Stefanski became the 16th coach to win the Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year Award multiple times since its inception in 1957, winning the honors in 2023 and 2020 and joined Forrest Gregg (1976) as the only Browns coaches to win the award. In his five seasons as head coach, Stefanski has led the team to two postseason appearances and two 11-win seasons. He joined Pro Football Hall of Famer Paul Brown (1951 and 1953) as the only coaches in team history to record multiple seasons with at least 11 regular season wins. During the Browns 78-year history, the team has surpassed 6,000 scrimmage yards in a single season just seven times, but have reached the mark in four seasons under Stefanski. Before the Browns, he spent 14 seasons (2006-19) with the Minnesota Vikings and moved up the coaching ladder from assistant to the head coach to offensive coordinator. He gained his first league experience with the Vikings in 2006 as an assistant to the head coach before transitioning to assistant quarterbacks coach from 2009-13, two seasons tutoring the tight ends group (2014-15), one season (2016) as running backs coach, two seasons guiding the quarterbacks (2017-18) and added the role of interim offensive coordinator for the remaining three games of the 2018 season before being promoted to the Vikings' offensive coordinator in 2019. Career record: 41-48.

BACKGROUND: Stefanski played defensive back at Pennsylvania (2000-04) and earned a bachelor's degree in communications.

PERSONAL: Born April 8, 1982, Stefanski is a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He and his wife, Michelle, have two sons, Will, Gabe and one daughter, Juliet.

IN THE COMMUNITY

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The organization's strong commitment to this area dates back to 1933 when Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. founded the team. Current President Art Rooney II is known as one of the most active NFL owners and one of Pittsburgh's most involved executives in civic affairs, as was his father, the late Steelers Chairman Dan Rooney.

Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in appearances, charitable donations, and outreach programs with nonprofit and community groups. It's our way of giving back to the community that has given us so much!

HALL OF HONOR

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee receives a replica of the solid steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1982 to commemorate the team's 50th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS HISTORY

The fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL, the Pittsburgh Steelers were founded on July 8, 1933, by Arthur Joseph Rooney. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 10-team NFL. The other four current NFL teams in existence at that time were the Chicago (Arizona) Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 25, 1988, following a stroke at the age of 87. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Born on January 27, 1901, in Coulterville, Pa., Art Rooney was the oldest of Daniel and Margaret Rooney's nine children. He grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and until his death he lived on the North Side, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He studied collegiately at Indiana (Pa.) Normal, which is now Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as well as at Georgetown and Duquesne.

An exceptional all-around athlete, Rooney held middleweight and welterweight titles from the AAU Boxing Championships and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He played minor league baseball from 1920-25 before a promising career was cut short by an arm injury. Rooney continued playing football for several semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh area. He was married on June 11, 1931, to Kathleen McNulty, and the couple had five sons — Daniel, Art Jr., Tim, John and Pat. In 1964, Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

By the mid-1960s, Rooney had begun to turn over much of the operation of the Steelers to his oldest son, Dan. After having worked in every area of the organization since 1955, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers in 1975. In 2000, Dan Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined his father Art to form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. The late New York Giants owners Wellington Mara and his father Tim were the first.

Late Steelers Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, spent 54 consecutive years with the organization before being named U.S. Ambassador to Ireland in 2009 by President Barack Obama. Rooney was required to move to Ireland in 2009 to fulfill his duties as ambassador.

As an NFL owner, Dan Rooney was widely recognized as one of the league's most influential executives and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. Among his community activities, he was the co-founder of the American Ireland Fund, and he was a board member of the United Way of America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, the Extra Mile Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Dan Rooney was a member of several NFL committees over 30-plus years. He served on the board of directors for the NFL Trust Fund, NFL Films and the Scheduling Committee. He was appointed chairman of the Expansion Committee in 1973, which considered new franchise locations and directed the addition of Seattle and Tampa Bay as expansion teams in 1976.

In 1976, Rooney was also named chairman of the Negotiating Committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the Collective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL and the Players Association. He again played a key role in the labor agreement reached between NFL owners and players in 1993. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the realignment plan and scheduling format that the NFL adopted prior to the 2002 season. In October 2002, he was named chairman of the NFL's Diversity in the Workplace Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. In February 1999, he was named the recipient of the Philadelphia Maxwell Football Club's Francis J. "Reds" Bagnell Award for outstanding contributions to the game of football.

Daniel M. Rooney was born on Pittsburgh's North Side on July 20, 1932. He was a 1950 graduate of North Catholic High School, where he played quarterback on the varsity football team. He went on to graduate from Duquesne University in 1955 with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting. Rooney passed away on April 13, 2017 at the age of 84, survived at the time by his wife of 66 years, Patricia (who passed away in 2021), and seven of their nine children, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dan Rooney was named Steelers Chairman Emeritus in July 2009 after he was named United States Ambassador to Ireland. Rooney served as United States Ambassador until late 2012.

In 2003, Dan Rooney officially turned over the title of Steelers team president to his oldest son, Arthur J. Rooney II, who had previously served as the team's president and general counsel. A 1978 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in political science, Art II received his law degree from Duquesne University School of Law in 1982. He currently serves as Chairman of the NFL's Stadium Workplace Diversity Committee as well as the Chair of the NFL Compensation Committee. 1930s After founding the Pirates in 1933,

Art Rooney watched his club struggle through its first seven seasons with just 22 wins and five different head coaches. While home games were played at Forbes Field, Rooney often took his team to such cities as Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s due to competition with baseball and college football.

In 1938, Rooney signed Colorado All-American Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in rushing that year and became one of the NFL's most illustrious alumni. He served 31 years as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court before retiring in 1993.

1950s Succeeding Sutherland, John Michelosen was head coach for the 1948-51 seasons, compiling a 20-26-2 record. In 1952, Joe Bach returned for his second stint with the Steelers, having coached the team previously in 1935-36. The Steelers became the last team to abandon the single wing for the T-formation in 1952.

Bach resigned for health reasons following the 1954 season and was replaced by assistant coach Walt Kiesling, who had been the Steelers' head coach twice previously. Kiesling's three stints covered the 1939-40, 1941-44 and the 1954-56 campaigns.

STEELERS HISTORY

The Steelers are the fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL. The team was founded on July 8, 1933.

1940s In 1940, Rooney changed the team name to the Pittsburgh Steelers, representing the heritage of Pittsburgh. The first winning record in the organization's history came in 1942 when head coach Walt Kiesling led the Steelers to a 7-4 finish with the league-leading rushing of rookie Bill Dudley. But the next year, Dudley joined the Armed Forces along with many other NFL players as the nation went to war. With rosters depleted, Rooney merged the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Phil-Pitt "Steagles") and with the Chicago Cardinals (Card-Pitt) in 1944.

Rooney hired legendary Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and Dudley returned from the war to earn NFL MVP honors, leading the league in rushing, interceptions and punt returns. Today, Dudley is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Sutherland led the 1947 Steelers to an 8-4 record and a share of the Eastern division title, but they lost their first-ever postseason game 21-0 to Philadelphia. Sutherland died suddenly the following spring while on a scouting trip.

The Steelers signed Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL.

1960s Buddy Parker was named head coach in 1957 and over the next eight years he led the Steelers to five non-losing seasons. Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne led the team through three of those campaigns, leading the Steelers to a 9-5 mark and a playoff game versus Detroit in 1962, which the Steelers lost 17-10. Parker completed his tenure with a 51-48-6 record and ranks fourth among all-time Steelers coaches for career wins.

On October 25, 1964, the Steelers made team history when they retired jersey No. 70 in honor of former defensive tackle Ernie Stautner. Stautner, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1969, became the first Steelers player to have his jersey retired.

Brief head coaching stints by Mike Nixon in 1965 and Bill Austin from 1966-68 preceded the hiring of 37-year-old Chuck Noll on January 27, 1969. Noll began to rebuild the Steelers through the draft, starting with the defense when he selected defensive tackle Joe Greene with his first choice in 1969. Today, Greene is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and joined Stautner as the only three players to have their jerseys retired by the team. Greene's No. 75 was officially retired on November 2, 2014.

A 1-13 record in 1969 gave the Steelers the first overall choice in the 1970 draft, with which Noll addressed the offense by selecting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, another Hall of Famer, after the Steelers won the first selection by winning a coin toss with the Chicago Bears. Cornerback Mel Blount was added in the third round that year, followed by linebacker Jack Ham in 1971 and running back Franco Harris in 1972. In all, Noll drafted 10 players who are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame including three in his first 20 picks and four of his first 38.

Two significant changes took place in 1970. The Steelers moved from the NFL Century Division to the AFC Central with the merger of the American Football League and the NFL. The Steelers also moved into a new home as Three Rivers Stadium opened. Previously, the Steelers had played home games at Forbes Field from 1933-57 and at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium from 1958-63. From 1964-69, the Steelers played at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers opened in 1970.

Gradual improvement in the early 1970s resulted in the team's first division title in 1972 with an 11-3 record. In the first playoff game at Three Rivers, the Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 13-7 with Franco Harris' "Immaculate Reception" in the final minute. Despite a 21-17 loss the following week to the undefeated Miami Dolphins, the Steelers had reached a new plateau.

It took 40 years for the Steelers to finally win their first division title, but over the next decade they achieved a level of success unprecedented in professional football.

In 1973, the Steelers won a wild card playoff berth with a 10-4 record. Oakland avenged their loss from the previous year, however, with a 33-14 defeat of the Steelers in the playoffs.

January 29, 1974 – The Steelers select future Hall of Famers Lynn Swann (first round), Jack Lambert (second), John Stallworth (fourth) and Mike Webster (fifth) in the NFL Draft. Many consider it the best draft in NFL history. Following the draft, the Steelers also signed free agent Donnie Shell, who was elected into the Hall of Fame in 2020.

The Steelers won their first of six consecutive AFC Central titles in 1974 and marched past Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) en route to their first Super Bowl appearance in Super Bowl IX. The fierce Pittsburgh defense led the way to a 16-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, and Art Rooney was presented the Vince Lombardi Trophy for the first time.

In 1975, the Steelers won 11 straight games to finish 12-2 and claimed their second-consecutive division crown. After defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) in the playoffs, the Steelers became the third team in NFL history, joining Green Bay and Miami, to win back-to-back Super Bowls with a 21-17 defeat of the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

The 1976 Steelers struggled to a 1-4 start before reeling off nine straight victories, including five shutouts, to win the division with a 10-4 mark. They defeated Baltimore 40-14 in the playoffs, but lost to Oakland 24-7 after both starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, were injured. The following year, the Steelers dropped a 34-21 decision to Denver in the first round of the playoffs after posting a 9-5 regular-season record.

In 1978, the Steelers made history after a league-best 14-2 regular season and playoff wins versus Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5). Their 35-31 Super Bowl XIII win versus Dallas made the Steelers the first team to win three Super Bowls.

Yet another standard was set the following year when the 1979 Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV to make them the first team in history to win four Super Bowls and the only team to win back-to-back Super Bowls twice. The Super Bowl victory followed a 12-4 regular-season record and playoff wins versus Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13). With six consecutive AFC Central crowns, eight straight years of playoff appearances and four Super Bowl championships, the Steelers were tagged the "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

As the 1980s opened, the Steelers stumbled, failing to make the playoffs in 1980 and 1981 with records of 9-7 and 8-8.

In 1982, the Steelers celebrated the team's 50th anniversary by qualifying for the playoffs with a 6-3 finish in a strike-interrupted season. During the season, an anniversary banquet was held to commemorate the team's first 50 seasons and to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan voting. Thousands of fans were attracted to Pittsburgh for a week of activities and exhibits before the anniversary season was ended by San Diego's 31-28 win in the playoffs. This would be the last playoff game at Three Rivers Stadium until the 1992 season, a span of 10 years.

The 1983 Steelers won their eighth division title with a 10-6 record, but fell in the postseason, 38-10, to the Los Angeles Raiders. The following year, the Steelers won their ninth division crown and the team advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 playoff win at Denver. A 45-28 loss to Miami in the AFC Championship game prevented the Steelers from a fifth Super Bowl appearance.

The Steelers' streak of 13 consecutive non-losing seasons came to an end in 1985 with a 7-9 finish, followed by a 6-10 record in 1986. Playoff hopes remained alive in 1987 until the Steelers lost their last two games to finish 8-7 during the strike-shortened season.

In 1988, the team suffered through its worst campaign in 19 years with a 5-11 record. The next season got off to a similar start with losses of 51-0 and 41-10 in the first two games. But the young team fought back to finish 9-7 and earn a wild card playoff berth on the season's final weekend. An exciting 26-23 overtime playoff win in Houston was followed by a heartbreaking 24-23 divisional playoff loss at Denver in which the Steelers led until the final minutes.

STEELERS HISTORY

In 1992, 34-year-old Bill Cowher became the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time. In his first season, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984.

1990s

A 9-7 finish in 1990 left the Steelers in a three-way tie for the AFC Central lead, but they were eliminated from playoff contention by a 2-4 division record. The 1991 team finished second in the division despite a 7-9 record, winning the last two games under Noll at home against the Cincinnati Bengals and Cleveland Browns.

On December 26, 1991, Noll announced his retirement from football after 39 consecutive seasons, the last 23 as the Steelers' head coach, which made him one of only four men to coach the same team for 23 consecutive years. He left as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history with an overall record of 209-156-1, and as the only coach to win four Super Bowls. Noll was rewarded in 1993 with his election to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

A new era began in 1992 with the retirement of Noll and the arrival of 34-year-old Bill Cowher, the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time he assumed control. In the first season of the new era, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984 with an 11-5 record. While the team enjoyed new-found success, Cowher was recognized by the Associated Press as the NFL's Coach of the Year and six Steelers were selected to the Pro Bowl, the most in more than a decade.

Under Cowher, the Steelers became the first AFC team since the 1970 merger to claim its 10th division title. Their 11-5 record equaled the best in the conference and gave the Steelers home field advantage throughout the playoffs. However, in the first postseason game at Three Rivers Stadium in exactly 10 years, the Steelers were defeated by eventual AFC Champion Buffalo, 24-3.

In 1993, the Steelers earned a wild card playoff berth, marking their first consecutive playoff appearances since the 1983-84 seasons. A 9-7 record was good for second place in the division, but the season ended in a 27-24 overtime loss at Kansas City in an AFC Wild Card game.

The 1994 Steelers won seven of their final eight regular-season games for their strongest finish since 1978. They captured their second division title in three years with an AFC-best 12-4 record. After a 29-9 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first round of the playoffs, Pittsburgh hosted its first AFC Championship game since 1979. The game went down to the wire and the Steelers lost to the San Diego Chargers 17-13.

At 38, Bill Cowher became the youngest head coach to lead his team to a Super Bowl appearance in 1995. Along the way, Cowher's team captured its third AFC Central division title in four years, made its fourth straight playoff appearance and won the Steelers' first AFC title since 1979. After a first-round bye, they defeated the Buffalo Bills (40-21) and the Indianapolis Colts (20-16), before losing to the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX in Tempe, Ariz.

In 1996, the Steelers finished 10-6 and earned their fifth consecutive trip to the playoffs. Cowher ended the season with 57 career victories, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in team history, behind his predecessor Noll.

The Steelers captured their fourth consecutive AFC Central title in 1997 while posting an 11-5 record. They were one play away from earning their sixth Super Bowl appearance but lost to Denver 24-21 in the AFC Championship game.

In 1998, the Steelers finished a disappointing 7-9, losing their last five regular-season games and missing the playoffs for the first time under Cowher.

The Steelers suffered their second consecutive losing season in 1999, when their record fell to 6-10.

The 1984 Steelers won their ninth division title with a 9-7 record.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for being the final season for the Steelers at Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers were 4-4 at home during their final season, including victories in four of their final six home games. The Steelers won their final game at Three Rivers, 24-3, against the Washington Football Team on Dec. 16.

The Steelers finished 31 seasons at Three Rivers Stadium (1970-2000) with a 182-72 home record, including the postseason. The Steelers recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (440,428) since 1998 in the final season, including a season-high 58,183 fans during the final game in stadium history.

The Steelers began a new era in team history in 2001 with the opening of their new stadium, Heinz Field. The Steelers posted an AFC-best 13-3 regular-season record, including a 7-1 mark at home, and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

The inaugural game was originally scheduled to be a nationally televised Sunday Night game on Sept. 16. However, the September 11 terrorist attacks on America forced the NFL to postpone all games that weekend — which were eventually rescheduled for the end of the season. As a result, the Steelers opened the stadium on Sunday, Oct. 7 with a 16-7 win against the Cincinnati Bengals.

However, they suffered a disappointing 24-17 loss at home in the AFC Championship Game to the eventual Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots.

After an 0-2 start in 2002, the Steelers rallied to make the playoffs for the second consecutive season. However, the team's Super Bowl hopes ended when they lost 34-31 in overtime to the Tennessee Titans on the road.

The Steelers began the 2003 season with a 34-15 victory against AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens. However, the team never regained that magic and finished the year with a 6-10 record and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

The Steelers set a team record in 2004 by becoming the first AFC team to win 15 games (15-1) in the regular season. They ultimately advanced to the AFC Championship Game where they lost to the New England Patriots 41-27. Nine Steelers were selected to play in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, the team's most since the 1979 season.

Pittsburgh found itself sitting at 7-5 after 12 games in 2005, but rallied to win its final four regular-season games to earn the AFC's sixth seed in the playoffs. The Steelers then won an unprecedented three straight road playoff games to gain a berth in Super Bowl XL in Detroit versus the Seattle Seahawks.

The 2006 season saw the Bill Cowher era come to an end with the Steelers finishing the season winning six of their final eight games to post an 8-8 record on the year.

On January 5, 2007, Bill Cowher resigned as Steelers head coach with a 161-99-1 overall record, second-best in team history.

The Steelers hired 34-year old Mike Tomlin as the team's head coach on January 22, 2007, becoming the NFL's youngest head coach at the time.

Tomlin became the second first-year coach in team history to make the playoffs in 2007. The Steelers finished with a 10-6 overall record and won the AFC North division title.

STEELERS HISTORY

▼ Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

Tomlin became the first coach in franchise history to win a division title in each of his first two seasons when the Steelers captured their second consecutive AFC North division title with a 12-4 record in 2008. They went on to defeat the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Ravens to gain a berth in Super Bowl XLIII in Tampa, Fla. versus the Arizona Cardinals.

The Steelers became the first NFL franchise to capture six Super Bowl titles when they defeated the Cardinals 27-23. With the victory, Tomlin became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl in NFL history (36 years, 323 days). Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

2010s The Steelers added to their legacy, making it all the way to Super Bowl XLV after a 12-4 record during the 2010 season. The team could not overcome an early 18-point deficit and fell to the Green Bay Packers 31-25. Despite the loss, the Steelers still are tied for the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories with six (New England Patriots).

Pittsburgh followed up the Super Bowl appearance with another 12-win season in 2011. The Steelers overcame injuries to key players on both sides of the ball to earn their 26th playoff berth since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. The 12 victories marked only the second time in team history that Pittsburgh recorded back-to-back regular seasons with at least 12 victories (1978-79). The Steelers again showcased one of the league's best defenses, leading the NFL in pass defense and being the only team to register two shutouts. Hines Ward became the eighth player in NFL history to record at least 1,000 receptions and 12,000 receiving yards and Antonio Brown became the first player in NFL history with at least 1,000 receiving yards and 1,000 return yards in the same season.

After back-to-back 8-8 seasons in 2012 and 2013, Pittsburgh returned to the playoffs in 2014. The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record and claimed the AFC North Division Championship, the team's 21st division title since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, which was tops in the NFL in that span. Pittsburgh had an offensive output for the ages in 2014 as the offense set numerous single-season team records, including total points (436), total net yards (6,577), passing yards per games (301.6), total first downs (379) and individual 100-yard receiving games (12).

The team also donned a CHN commemorative patch in honor of the late Chuck Noll during the 2014 season. The team also retired Joe Greene's No. 75, all during its year of celebrating the team's 40th anniversary of its first championship with a uniform patch in 2014.

The Steelers earned the division title for the 24th time since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger – the most division crowns by an NFL team in that span.

Since the AFC North was adopted after the restructuring of the 2002 NFL season when the League realigned divisions after expanding to 32 teams, Mike Tomlin has won the division seven times (2007, 2008, 2010, 2014, 2016, 2017 and 2020). THE birth of the towel 1975

Origins of an Icon

During the 1975 playoffs, Steelers radio color commentator Myron Cope sparked fan excitement by urging them to wave gold or yellow towels at the first playoff game. The Terrible Towel debuted on December 27, 1975, during the Steelers' 28-10 AFC Divisional win over Baltimore, setting the stage for their 21-17 Super Bowl X victory over Dallas.

A Charitable Gesture

In 1996, Myron Cope transferred the Terrible Towel trademark to Allegheny Valley School (AVS). Since then, sales royalties have generated millions to support individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Renegade Tradition

In the early 2000s, the Steelers' tradition of playing "Renegade" during games became synonymous with fans waving their Terrible Towels.

2010

In 2010, the "Terrible Towel Twirl" was introduced, with special guests leading the crowd in a ceremonious twirl before kickoff.

BIRD'S EYE

WATT HAS A BIRD'S EYE

BY TERESA VARLEY
STEELERS.COM

THE GAME

For a minute, it seemed like defensive tackle Cameron Heyward was just asking his teammate, linebacker T.J. Watt, when he said he has such a good feeling for his opponent, defensive line center Eric Reid. But he probably knows what they said for breakfast that morning.

Crucy part is, he isn't that far off.

Along Watt isn't aware if they had pancakes or eggs this morning, but he knows enough after an 11-hour study of their tendencies and every move they make on the field.

"He's just got a fast eye view," said Heyward. "He's covering it all from stances to formations to what they're doing for breakfast. You just never know."

"He just appreciates the game and every detail concern."

Watt laughed at the perception, as he sat back in an oversized leather chair at the Steelers' hotel in Dublin, Ireland just a few weeks back.

Then, he caved a bit, knowing Heyward wasn't that far off.

"I think it's just being observed with the process," said Watt. "We always been involved with the work that goes into what creates the result, and that's just hearing from watching my brothers (L.J. and Devin) Watt) succeed over the years, being able to figure that out in his own way of what it takes to be successful."

"I think that's really critical too."

That direct approach to his game and, last observation, is something that sticks during the season, but it's also something that can be confusing.

And it starts with his film study.

You will be hard pressed to find a player not just in the Steelers locker room, but league wide, who gets in the time and dedication Watt does to film study.

He prefers it. He loves it.

Even if sometimes it's a bit.

"Too much, I mean too much," said Watt. "I do so much that I annoy my wife. Don't help me watch film, especially game tapes. But I think it's just being very regimented is what it is each and every day. Every day have a different set of film study, whether it's tactics diagrams, tackle stances, tight ends, end of, man-to-man. Obviously, occasional catch-and-kill cases."

"And then you get into the actual TV tapes, which we're trying to listen to the snap count and things of that nature."

He isn't worried about it.

"Absolutely you make sure you don't give anything away," said Watt. "But when your husband is a damn good, you don't have to worry about it. That's what I think."

When it comes to his "football," his game is beyond compare.

"When you have to prepare for a play like him, you've got to know he takes it seriously," said Heyward. "He prepares for every situation, and he's going to find every weakness you do have on the offensive side of the ball."

"So, that's novel any question that you have to be ready for T.J. Watt. He's just prepared."

With the changes his Steelers made in defense this offseason, bringing in a handful of new players on the front and back end, there have been some adjustments that have had to be made by the defense as a whole just to adapt to each other.

For a player like Watt, that could be disruptive.

"HE'S COVERING IT ALL FROM STANCES TO FORMATIONS TO WHAT THEY'RE EATING FOR BREAKFAST.."

—CAMERON HEYWARD

When Watt likes to study the tendencies of others, he is one who has his own tendencies.

His impatience is noticeable. Observed by a coach.

Don't ask him to change the reality. Because if anyone is a creature of habit, it's Watt.

"I do like it, I do," admitted Watt. "I mean, it's a training and a case at times for sure."

The key for him, though, is to make sure he doesn't allow that obsession of habit approach to show in his play and not obscure what he is doing.

But for him, though.

"I think a lot of the new guys are veteran guys, with a bunch of young guys," said Watt. "The reality of young guys, the ones learn with me, are the guys up front. They all understand what Pittsburgh Steelers football is. I think that's a standard for the team that has been built here over time and it's getting all to get and coming to play better."

"We're starting to play better and better football and we want to control that together as we continue to build a cohesive unit."

Among those young players that refers to the robust Derrick Harmon, Rahke Black and Jack Sawyer, Watt is using his part-time help them adapt to the Steelers way and which, even the jet did out, something he mentioned from a former player.

"I'm staying back, going back to the game," said Watt. "I had no many weapons than with guys to risk what I feel got here. So, it's important for me to give back."

"It also keeps me engaged when I'm teaching younger guys how our defense is or how to pick back."

Through his years with the team, and his role as a captain, Watt has developed into a player who doesn't hesitate to share with the younger players, whether it's advice, tips or constructive criticism to help them grow their game.

"I tell them things from personal experience," said Watt. "I come from a good place. And I try to explain why, instead of just telling them not to do something."

"We have a good team, Yung, I have Sawyer, everybody's so great and receptive to getting coaching. Nobody's like, 'ah, I don't want to hear from you.' So, that's been really cool. We just overall had a really good year."

"There's more distribution all over this year," said Watt. "That has been really nice. I think especially in my role, specifically with Sawyer coming along. It's great to be able to trust him to take runs and make plays. It allows us to be better in the fourth quarter, which is going to help the team, especially after in the playoffs."

Watt has already worked with third-year linebacker Nick Herbig, helping to mold the outside number not just on the field, but giving him the path to follow to be successful off the field.

When it comes to doing the same with Sawyer, the team's fourth-round draft pick out of Ohio State,

"I watch how he has mold Nick Herbig," said Harmon. "And now I see how much time he spends with Jack Sawyer. And that's not it."

"There are other guys, players like Jellie (Herschel), DeMarion Leal and even Derrick Harmon. I think he wants to pour into those guys and make sure they really have a chance to succeed."

Pouring into younger players truly is something Watt enjoys. He is an open book for that question, not wanting to keep any secrets because the more they know, the better the team is.

"It's cool. It really is to be around young guys who are hungry," said Watt. "Watt is an extremely hungry guy. He reminds me of myself. He's always wanting to learn and grow and get better. Even if he has a good game, he's trying to pick apart the plays that he didn't have as much success with and trying to figure out how he can continue to get better."

"Sawyer's falling in line as well. It just adds to that depth we were talking about."

It's depth that plays off each other well. Through his first two games of the season, Watt didn't have a single sack, although he has three over the last two games.

His lack of numbers didn't because of what he was doing each one.

It's what a good sack looks like during

Watt is known as a game-wrecker, and upsetting offensive coordinators and doing everything in their power to come up with a plan to minimize his impact, and that often means double or triple teaming the 48 lbs edge rusher.

When they do that, though, it opens up other players to make plays. Including Sawyer who recorded his first career sack thanks in part to Watt.

"HE AFFECTS THE GAME IN SO MANY WAYS, EVEN WHEN IT MIGHT NOT SHOW UP ON A STAT SHEET BECAUSE HE'S THE BEST IN THE WORLD."

—JACK SAWYER

GAME WRECKER

OPPOSING OFFENSIVE COORDINATORS ARE DOING EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO COME UP WITH A PLAN TO MINIMIZE HIS IMPACT.

"He's always getting triple and quadruple teamed," said Sawyer. "My seat, he had three guys in him, so I told him, think you."

"It affects the game in so many ways. Even when it might not show up on a stat sheet because he's the best in the world."

"So, obviously the teams that were playing us going to draw a game plan for him to either he's going to destroy it. For him, he's been affecting the game in so many more ways than the average eye might see."

"He's the best in the world."

Herbig said it's like the Sleepy Curry effect, referring to the Golden State Warriors All-Star who continuously draws attention from opponents to try and minimize his impact.

"That's the impact right there. The attention he gets," said Herbig. "It's like Steph Curry. Teams picking him up with two guys. T.J.'s taking away from their game plan, which gives us opportu- nities to show how we play."

"We know that T.J. is going to get triple teamed in almost every play, so we have to take advantage."

And there is clearly Watt wants to take advantage of this year, and in the infusion of talent that he hopes allowed for it.

For all the individual success he has had in his career, there is still one thing he wants.

A championship.

While he might miss a few games each week, he isn't allowing himself to obsess over getting that shiny victory. At least not anymore.

"It's everything. It really is," said Watt of striving for a championship win. "I've had so much individual success, that it's the only thing of this kind. It's just winning."

"But it's also not sitting in control this hard and now, I think in years past, it was almost too much at an individual about the performance that you have right now and season."

"I want to take it one day at a time, one week at a time and handle that stuff once we get there."

"I feel like I can approach it that way. Now, it's part of being with a team that has so many great players either, so many people that are fun to be around that we're just able to be in the moment."

And if there is even a time Watt wants to be in the moment, it's now.

He and his wife Dani welcomed their first child, daughter Bakari, in March. While it hasn't changed his approach to the game, to film study, or to anything surrounding football, it has changed life for him.

The minute his daughter's name was even mentioned, he went from focused on the game to a smiling, proud dad to a footballer.

"It's changed everything," said Watt.

"This perspective has absolutely changed for the best. Honestly, it allows me one day to be a dad and enjoy a little bit."

"I stop the obsession at times of football and film study. Even though I still find time to get in what I have to and go to, from when I get home, I'm dad until she goes to bed, and then I'm allowed to switch over to football mode."

"There is just so much changing day-to-day. It really is unfortunate how much you also miss. All off the field I was around her so much because you only work, and you have treatment and then you have the rest of the day to relax and spend time with Bakari and Dani. But now that I'm in season, I have before she's awake and then I get home and I'm only with her for an hour, maybe an hour and a half before she goes to bed."

"So, it's just challenging as much time I can have with her, but also really respecting and appreciating any time for her that she gives for our family."

"When I ask is that fair, I make sure I don't think football for a minute, I do my best. It can be tough."

"Most of a high level football is very relaxed in my life right now."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the NFL's head coach in Pittsburgh's SteelCity on January 22, 2007. At just the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1960.

In his 10 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A "winners' coach" for stability in the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (18 years, 323 days), a record that held for 67 years, followed by Ben McVey in Super Bowl VII (34 years, 28 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the third to win a Super Bowl title in his first NFL season.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 11 of the first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 10 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive winning seasons. He has won 61 Steelers as a 300-career record, a club of which 18 coaches, as head coaches, had in the Pittsburgh Steelers' 60-year history as a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has led a total of 82 coaches to the NFL's January Pro Bowl, including the first playoff win against Pro Bowl winners for the 2024 season. Additionally, Tomlin was named by Sports Illustrated as the NFL's Campbell Award Coach for March 2023.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within the first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons of the team, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLIII. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 200-109-2 record in his regular season as a coach, becoming the NFL's head coach in 2007—his second full season in the NFL, during that time having led only Andy Reid, 94-136-12-2 regular season record (1926) in the head coach of the franchise.

Tomlin's 180 regular season wins tie for the second-most among active NFL head coaches and trail only the 220-win record of Tom Brady. Tomlin's 2022 regular season win percentage is the sixth highest in NFL history (69.44%) with 150 games.

Tomlin's 180 regular season wins put him in the second-most in a coach's first 18 career seasons. The 182 regular season win percentage is the fifth best in a head coach's first 18 career seasons.

Tomlin, who took over in NFL history with a regular season record of 78 games over 150, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid, and Matt Schaub are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over 100 wins in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 33 current NFL franchises.

With a victory at Pittsburgh in Week 10 of 2024, Tomlin became the sixth head coach in NFL history to reach 188 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 283 games coached, which sets the fifth-best career coach win in League history to reach 180 wins.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 33rd season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached the playoffs since joining the league. The Steelers played seven regular season games in 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular season games played in 2022 playoff loss was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers lost victories vs. opponents that finished 2021 with a winning record over the 10th-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 33rd season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached the playoffs since joining the league. The Steelers played eight regular season games in 2023 playoff teams, including both Super Bowl and first in the week. Pittsburgh's eight regular season games played in 2023 playoff loss was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five Steelers in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more wins games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' 2023 regular season wins vs. 2023 playoff loss was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team received momentum over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 200th career win, at 300 in three weeks in Week 9. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 loss, and won 7 of the next 10 games. Pittsburgh's offense finished the best third down conversion rate and 10th highest rushing yards in the League from Week 10 through 20 after starting the season ranked 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved their ranking 20th in opponent sacks per game to the strongest defense in the League over the second half of the season, allowing an NFL and 27.5 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in going off the field over the 3rd year season, allowing the third-best third down conversion (38) and long for the second-most interceptions (12). The team's 20 interceptions of the season tied for the most in the League.

VICTORIES

Tomlin is one of four active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories.

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee received a replica of the steel steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1992 to commemorate the team's 60th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

One of the great survivors of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 20, 2008, following a stroke at the age of 87. "Doc Choke" as he was affectionately known, is remembered in the The Football Hall of Fame and is interred at rest of Pittsburgh's greatest hero.

Born on January 27, 1926, in Coonamsville, Pa., Art Francis was the eldest of James and Margaret Ramsey's four children. He grew up in Old Middletown, near Jersey, as Philadelphia's North Side, and still lives closely by hand on the North Side, just a short distance from where "Dad" Snow (William Alford,

Rooney interned at St. Peter's Residential Services (now St. Peter's Community Care) in 1970. He attended college at Indiana State University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and at the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

[illegible]

By the mid-2010s, Rooney had begun to turn her mind to the question of his father's role in the 1970 NYC Dec. After having worked in every one of the organizations since 1980, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Decade in 1975. In 2020, Tim Rooney was inducted into the New Political Hall of Fame. We joined the father-son team with the mission to learn and understand by the historical role of the Decade. The late New York Times editors, Josephine and John, were a factor for this film.

As an FBI suspect, Earl Stennis was widely recognized as one of the nation's most influential politicians, and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. During his increasingly turbulent life, he was the chairman of the American United Fund, and for one a board member of the United Way in America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh Library for Learning Disabilities Foundation, the Delta Life Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Don Bessinger was a pioneer of aerialist NFL scouting. He was over 30-plus years. He has and on the board of directors for the NFL. He was NFL, NFL Films and the Scouting Executive. He was assistant chairman of the Executive Committee in 1973, which president (see Bessinger, Bessinger) and completed the addition of Seattle with Tomlin Bay in 1976.

In 2006, Rooney was also named chairwoman of the Regulatory Committee, and in 2002 he was selected to be the supervisor for the Collapsing Bearpaw Aqueduct for the MFL and the Plains Association. He again issued a vote this in the same aqueduct, but not between MFL members, also elected in 2005. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the management plan on a watershed basis. He had the 20% approval given in the 2000 election. In October 2002, he was second place winner of the MFL Directors in the Moderator/Chairman. Rooney was also Chairman of the Trust of the Plains Community. In February 2003, he was named the co-chair of the Plains Community Meeting. Rooney's leadership in the Plains Community has been instrumental in the development of the MFL and the Plains Association.

Greg (M. Jimmy) was born on February 3, 1963, on July 10, 1963. He was a 1976 graduate of North Carolina High School, where he played quarterback on the football team. He went on to graduate from Chapman University in 1988 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Accounting. Jimmy worked at the firm from July 13, 2017, until his death on July 13, 2017, at the age of 54 years. BIRD'S EYE

WATT HAS A BIRD'S EYE
VIEW OF THE GAME

BY TERESA VARLEY
STEELERS.COM

THE GAME

For a minute, it sounded like defensive tackle Cameron Heyward was joking about his teammate, linebacker T.J. Watt, when he said he has such a good feeling for his opponent movements and tendencies that he probably knows what they had for breakfast this morning.

Crazy part is, he isn't that far off.

Maybe Watt isn't aware if they had pancakes or eggs this morning, but he knows enough after endless film study of their tendencies and every move they make on the field.

"He's just got a bird's eye view," said Heyward. "He's covering it all from stances to formations to what they're eating for breakfast. You just never know."

"He just approaches the game where every detail counts."

Watt laughed at the perception as he sat back in an oversized leather chair at the Steelers hotel in Dublin, Ireland just a few weeks back.

Then, he caved a bit, knowing Heyward wasn't that far off.

"I think it's just being obsessed with the process," said Watt. "I've always been fascinated with the work that goes into what creates the result, and that's just learning from watching my brothers (J.J. Watt and Derek Watt) succeed over the years. Being able to have that behind the curtain view of what it takes to be successful."

"I think that's really driven me."

That driven aspect of his personality, that obsession, is something that shines during the season, but it's also something that can be consuming.

And it starts with his film study.

You will be hard pressed to find a player not just in the Steelers locker room, but league wide, who puts in the time and dedication Watt does to film study.

He enjoys it. He loves it.

Even if sometimes it's a lot.

"Too much, I mean too much," said Watt. "I do so much that I have my wife Dani help me watch film, especially game copies. But I think it's just being very regimented in what I do each and every day. Every day has a different set of film study, whether it's tackle alignments, tackle stances, tight ends. Just all mannerisms. Obviously, formation structures and cues."

"And then you get into the actual TV copies where we're trying to listen to the snap count and things of that nature."

He isn't worried about it.

"Absolutely you make sure you don't give anything away," said Watt. "But when your fastball's damn good, you don't have to worry about it. That's what I think."

When it comes to his 'fastball,' his game is beyond compare.

"When you have to prepare for a player like him, you've got to know he takes it seriously," said Heyward. "He prepares for every situation, and he's going to find every weakness you do have on the offensive side of the ball."

"So, there's never any question that you have to be ready for T.J. Watt 60-plus minutes."

With the changes the Steelers made on defense this offseason, bringing in a handful of new players on the front and back end, there have been some adjustments that have had to be made by the unit as a whole just to adapt to each other.

For a player like Watt, that could be disruptive.

"HE'S COVERING IT ALL FROM STANCES TO FORMATIONS TO WHAT THEY'RE EATING FOR BREAKFAST..."

- CAMERON HEYWARD

While Watt likes to study the tendencies of others, he is one who has his own predictability.

His breakfast is predictable. Oatmeal is a staple.

Don't ask him to change his routine. Because if anyone is a creature of habit, it's Watt.

"I do like it, I do," admitted Watt. "I mean, it's a blessing and a curse at times for sure."

The key for him, though, is to make sure he doesn't allow that creature of habit approach to show in his play and let others see what he is doing.

Not for him, though.

"I think a lot of the new pieces are veteran guys, with a sprinkle of young guys," said Watt. "The sprinkle of young guys, the ones I work with more, are the guys up front. They all understand what Pittsburgh Steelers football is. I think that's a testament to the brand that has been built here over time and it's getting us all to gel and continue to play better."

"We're starting to play better and better football and we want to continue that trajectory as we continue to build a cohesive unit."

Among those young players Watt refers to are rookies Derrick Harmon, Yahya Black and Jack Sawyer. Watt is doing his part to help them adapt to the Steelers way and teach them the ins and outs, something he benefited from as a young player.

"It's paying back, giving back to the game," said Watt. "I had so many veterans that were great to me when I first got here. So, it's important for me to give back."

"It also keeps me engaged when I'm teaching younger guys how our defense is or how to pass rush."

Through his years with the team, and his role as a captain, Watt has developed into a player who doesn't hesitate to share with the younger players, whether it's advice, tips or constructive criticism to help them grow their game.

"I tell them things from personal experience," said Watt. "It comes from a good place. And I try to explain why, instead of just telling them not to do something."

"We have a great room, Yahya, D-Harm, Sawyer. Everybody's so great and receptive to getting coaching. Nobody's like, nah, I don't want to hear from you. So, that's been really cool. We just overall have a really good room."

It's not just a good room, it's a deep room, something that pays dividends for rotation up front.

"There's more distribution of reps this year," said Watt. "That has been really nice. I think especially in my room, specifically with Sawyer coming along. It's great to be able to trust him to take more and more reps. It allows us to be fresher in the fourth quarter, which is going to pay dividends, especially later in the season."

Watt has already worked with third-year linebacker Nick Herbig, helping to mold the outside rusher not just on the field, but giving him the path to follow to be successful off the field.

Now he is doing the same with Sawyer, the team's fourth-round draft pick out of Ohio State.

"I watch how he has molded Nick Herbig," said Heyward. "And now I see how much time he spends with Jack Sawyer. And that's not it."

"There are other guys, players like Julius (Welschhof), DeMarvin Leal and even Derrick Harmon. I think he wants to pour into those guys and make sure they really have a chance to succeed."

Pouring into younger players truly is something Watt enjoys. He is an open book for their questions, not wanting to keep any secrets because the more they know, the better the team is.

"It's cool. It really is to be around young guys who are hungry," said Watt. "Herb is an extremely hungry guy. He reminds me of myself. He's always wanting to learn and grow and get better. Even if he has a good game, he's trying to pick apart the plays that he didn't have as much success with and trying to figure out how he can continue to get better."

"Sawyer's falling in line as well. It just adds to that depth we were talking about."

It's depth that plays off each other well. Through the first two games of the season, Watt didn't have a single sack, although he has three over the last two games.

His lack of numbers wasn't because of what he was doing early on.

It's what opponents were doing.

Watt is known as a game-wrecker, and opposing offensive coordinators are doing everything in their power to come up with a plan to minimize his impact, and that often means double or triple teaming the All-Pro edge rusher.

When they do that, though, it opens up other players to make plays, including Sawyer who recorded his first career sack thanks in part to Watt.

"HE AFFECTS THE GAME IN SO MANY WAYS, EVEN WHEN IT MIGHT NOT SHOW UP ON A STAT SHEET BECAUSE HE'S THE BEST IN THE WORLD."

— JACK SAWYER

OPPOSING OFFENSIVE

DOING EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO COME

GAME WRECKER

"He's always getting triple and quadrupled teamed," said Sawyer. "My sack, he had three guys on him, so I told him, thank you."

"He affects the game in so many ways, even when it might not show up on a stat sheet because he's the best in the world."

"So, obviously the team that we're playing is going to have a game plan for him or else he's going to destroy it. For him, he's been affecting the game in so many more ways than the average eye might see."

"He's the best in the world."

Herbig said it's like the Steph Curry effect, referring to the Golden State Warriors All-Star who continually draws attention from opponents to try and neutralize his impact.

"That's the impact right there. The attention he gets," said Herbig. "It's like Steph Curry. Teams picking him up with two guys. T.J.'s taking away from their game plan, which gives us opportunities to have one-on-ones."

"We know that T.J. is going to get triple teamed on almost every play, so we have to take advantage."

And there is plenty Watt wants to take advantage of this year, and it's the infusion of talent that he hopes allows for it.

For all the individual success he has had in his career, there is still one thing he wants.

A playoff win.

While he might obsess over games each week, he isn't allowing himself to obsess over getting that playoff victory. At least not anymore.

"It's everything. It really is," said Watt of striving for a postseason win. "I've had so much individual success, that it's the only thing at this point. It's just winning."

"But it's also not letting it control the here and now. I think in years past, it was almost too much of an obsession about the postseason that you lose sight at the end season."

"I want to take it one day at a time, one week at a time and handle that stuff once we get there."

"I feel like I can approach it that way now. It's part of being with a team that has so many great personalities, so many people that are fun to be around that we're just able to be in the moment."

And if there is ever a time Watt wants to be in the moment, it's now.

He and his wife Dani welcomed their first child, daughter Blakely, in March.

While it hasn't changed his approach to the game, to film study, or to anything surrounding football, it has changed life for him.

The minute his daughter's name was even mentioned, he went from focused on the game to a smiling, proud dad in a heartbeat.

"It's changed everything," said Watt. "The perspective has absolutely changed for the best. Honestly, it allows me once I'm home to be dad and unplug a little bit."

"I drop the obsession at times of football and film study. Even though I still find time to get in what I have to and more, from when I get home, I'm dad until she goes to bed, and then I'm allowed to switch over to football mode."

"There is just so much changing day-to-day. It really is unfortunate how much you are away. All offseason I was around her so much because you only work out and have treatment and then you have the rest of the day to relax and spend time with Blakely and Dani. But now that I'm in season, I leave before she's awake and then I get home and I'm only with her for an hour, maybe an hour and a half before she goes to bed."

"So, it's just cherishing as much time I can have with her, but also really respecting and appreciating my wife for all that she does for our family."

"When I walk in that door, I make sure I don't think football for a while. I do my best. It can be tough."

"Never too high, never too low is very relevant in my life right now."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007. Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969.

In his 18 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A franchise known for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (36 years, 323 days), a record that held until it was eclipsed by Sean McVay in Super Bowl LVI (36 years, 20 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 17 of his first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 18 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive non-losing seasons. He has led the Steelers to a .500-or-better record in each of his 18 seasons as head coach. That is the third-longest streak of .500-or-better seasons by a head coach in NFL history.

Tomlin has sent a total of 80 selections to the NFL's annual Pro Bowl, including the four players who received Pro Bowl honors for the 2024 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March 2013.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 186-108-2 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007—the second-best record in the NFL during that time span, behind only Andy Reid. His 186-108-2 regular-season record (.632) is the best start in franchise history.

Tomlin's 186 regular-season victories are the second-most among active NFL head coaches and tied for the 11th-most in League history. Tomlin's .632 regular-season win percentage is the ninth-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games).

Tomlin's 186 regular-season wins are tied for the second-most in a coach's first 18 career seasons. His .632 regular-season win percentage is the fifth-best by a head coach in his first 18 career seasons.

Tomlin, who ranks eight in NFL history with a regular-season record of 78 games over .500, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid and Marty Schottenheimer are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over .500 not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of four active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 31 current NFL franchises.

With a victory at Washington in Week 10 of 2024, Tomlin became the ninth head coach in NFL history to reach 180 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 284 games coached, which was the fifth-fewest games coached in League history to reach the milestone.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played seven regular-season games vs. 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular-season games played vs. 2024 playoff foes was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers' five victories vs. opponents that finished 2024 with a winning record were the fifth-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 10-win season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached double-digit wins during his tenure. The Steelers played eight regular-season games vs. 2023 playoff teams, including both four at home and four on the road. Pittsburgh's eight regular-season games played vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five teams in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games vs. 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more such games and reached the postseason. The Steelers' five regular-season wins vs. 2023 playoff foes was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team improved dramatically over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 16th-straight season of .500 or above with a record of 9-8. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 bye, and went 7-2 the rest of the way. Pittsburgh's offense boasted the best third-down conversion rate and the third-most rushing yards in the League from Weeks 10 through 18 after starting the season ranked 24th in both categories. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved from ranking 29th in opponent yards per game to the stingiest defense in the League over the second half of the season, allowing an NFL-best 272.9 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in getting off the field over the last nine weeks, allowing the third-least third-down conversions (36) and tying for the second-most interceptions (12). The team's 20 interceptions on the season tied for the most in the League.

VICTORIES

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories.

Tomlin's .632 regular-season win percentage is the ninth-highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games)

In 2021, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 9-7-1 record and captured a playoff berth for the 10th time in his Steelers career. For the fifth-straight season, the Steelers led the NFL in sacks (55). The Pittsburgh defense sat atop the League in red zone defense allowing touchdowns on just 50.14% of red zone trips. Offensively, Pat Freiermuth and Najee Harris set several rookie franchise records and were two of five rookies starting in Week 1 of the season.

In 2020, Tomlin became one of just two head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 14 consecutive non-losing seasons – joining Marty Schottenheimer (14, 1984-97). The Steelers began the season with an 11-0 win-streak, which culminated in a 12-4 regular-season record and Tomlin's ninth AFC North title. The 11-game winning streak (9/14/20-12/2/20) tied the longest regular season winning streak in franchise history. Over the past six seasons (2013-20), Tomlin has led the team to a 26-13 record in the month of December/January.

The Steelers offense dramatically improved in 2020, scoring at least 24 points in 11 regular season games after hitting the mark just five times in 2019. However, it was Pittsburgh's defense that once again showed its teeth, either topping or sharing the league lead in 20 different defensive categories including tackles for loss (103), sacks (56.0), interceptions (18), passes defended (84), quarterback pressures (198), defensive completion percentage (56.7%) and opposing QB rating (76.7). The unit also finished second in takeaways (27) and third in scoring defense (19.5).

Finishing the regular season as the AFC's No. 3 seed, Pittsburgh produced five Pro Bowlers—offensive linemen Maurkice Pouncey and David DeCastro and defenders Minkah Fitzpatrick, Cameron Heyward and T.J. Watt—marking the fourth consecutive season in which at least five Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl.

Pittsburgh was beset with injuries in 2019. The Steelers lost quarterback Ben Roethlisberger with a season-ending elbow injury in Week 2. Running back James Conner missed six games, wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster missed four games, and was sidelined for the majority of two others, and defensive end Stephon Tuitt missed the final 10 games of the season. Even backups – quarterback Mason Rudolph and running back Jaylen Samuels missed multiple games. Starting center Maurkice Pouncey missed three games. Starting left guard Ramon Foster and starting tight end Vance McDonald were both sidelined two games for concussions. Undrafted rookie free-agent Devlin Hodges was forced to play in eight games (six starts), and, despite an 0-3 start, Tomlin still led Pittsburgh to a record of 8-8.

Despite injuries, Pittsburgh's defense led or tied for the League-lead in sacks (54.0), quarterback hits (117), takeaways (36), fumble recoveries (17) and rush TDs allowed (7). The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), passing defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.74), passes defended (3rd, 83), yards per rush allowed (3rd, 3.79), forced fumbles (t-3rd, 19), tackles for loss (t-3rd, 90), opposing passer rating (4th, 80.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1), scoring defense (t-5th, 18.9) and offensive TDs allowed (5th, 30).

During the 2019 season, Tomlin reached 125 career wins in the fewest games (192) in team history, tying him with Bud Grant for the fifth-fewest games by an NFL head coach to secure 125 regular season wins. He was the third head coach in NFL history with 133 or more regular season wins in their first 13 seasons as a head coach, joining Tony Dungy: 139 and Shula: 138.

Tomlin led the Steelers to a record of 9-6-1 in 2018. With a Week 5 win against Atlanta, he and quarterback Ben Roethlisberger broke a tie with Chuck Noll and Terry Bradshaw for the most wins by a head coach-quarterback tandem in franchise history. The duo's 127 regular-season wins (2007-20) are now third-most by a head coach-quarterback pairing in NFL history, trailing only the tandems of Sean Payton/Drew Brees and Bill Belichick/Tom Brady.

Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes (34), pass completions (452) and passing yards (5,129) in 2018, while leading all NFL players in pass completions and passing yardage. Wide receiver Antonio Brown led the NFL with a single-season franchise record 15 TD catches. Brown and second-year wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster also made history, becoming the sixth wide receiver duo in NFL history and first in Steelers history to record 100 receptions and 1,000 yards apiece in a single season. Smith-Schuster was voted Team MVP for his breakout year.

With Tomlin at the helm, six Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl for their 2018 performances — the third consecutive season with at least five selections. Brown, running back James Conner, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva all received Pro Bowl accolades.

In 2017, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 13-3 record, including a 6-0 record against the AFC North, securing his sixth division title and a No. 2 seed in the AFC for the postseason. The team's 13 wins marked the most wins in a single season in the Tomlin era.

Under Tomlin's guidance, Roethlisberger became the eighth quarterback in NFL history to reach 50,000 passing yards, finishing the 2017 season with a career total of 51,065. Brown was voted team MVP for his outstanding performance and became the first Steeler to earn the honor four times (2011, '13, '15 and '17). Brown led the league with 1,533 receiving yards and set an NFL record for the most receptions (582) and receiving yards (7,848) by a player in any five-year span in League history. For the second straight season, running back Le'Veon Bell led the AFC in scrimmage yards per game (129.7) and surpassed his own Steelers single-season record for receptions by a running back with 85. Defensively, the team led the NFL and set a Steelers single-season record with 56 sacks in 2017.

For their efforts, Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell were named to the Pro Bowl along with kicker Chris Boswell, linebacker Ryan Shazier, and offensive linemen DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Villanueva. Brown, Bell and DeCastro were also named AP All-Pro, along with Heyward. Heyward and fullback Roosevelt Nix were also added to the Pro Bowl roster prior to the game.

The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record in 2016, and won each of the team's final seven regular-season games, to secure the AFC North title and No. 3 seed in the AFC for the postseason. It marked the fifth time Tomlin led the Steelers to at least 11 wins in the regular season. Pittsburgh won its first two postseason games, vs. Miami in an AFC Wild Card Game and at Kansas City in an AFC Divisional Playoff, before falling to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game.

Bell was voted the Steelers' MVP for his 2016 efforts. He led the NFL in scrimmage yards per game (157.0), and he became the fastest player in NFL history to reach 3,000 rushing yards and 1,500 receiving yards in his career (38 games). In the Steelers' Week 14 victory at Buffalo in 2016, Bell set the single-game team record with 236 rushing yards and tied the single-game team mark with three rushing TDs.

Roethlisberger and Brown continued to etch their names in NFL history. Roethlisberger finished the season with the ninth-most passing TDs in NFL history (301) and the 10th-most passing yards in NFL history (46,814). Brown set numerous NFL records, including one for the most receptions in a player's first 100 career regular-season games (622) and one for the most receptions in NFL history by a player in any four-year span (481).

Tomlin also reached his 100th career win in 2016 and did so in the fewest games (157) in team history. He became the eighth head coach in NFL history to reach 100 regular-season wins in their first 10 seasons.

Despite significant injuries to multiple starters during the 2015 season, the Steelers finished with a 10-6 record (2nd in the AFC North) and advanced to the Divisional Round of the playoffs. The Steelers finished third in the NFL in total offense (1st in the AFC), while the defense posted 48 sacks under first-year defensive coordinator Keith Butler. The 48 sacks were the third most in the NFL in 2015.

In 2014, Tomlin orchestrated one of the top offensive outputs in team history. The Steelers broke numerous offensive records, including points scored (436), total yards (6,577), passing yards per game (301.6) and total first downs (379). On an individual basis in 2014, Tomlin guided Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell — who all made the Pro Bowl — to record-setting years.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs.

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 yards/game) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 yards/game).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it had been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Pouncey, Troy Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed (62.8 yds./game), points allowed (232), touchdowns allowed (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Santonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at home under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rush defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for TD passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998.

Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 TD catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February 2013 by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. Tomlin also participates in the annual ManUp Pittsburgh conference which encourages local men to be better fathers and role models.

Tomlin became the 9th head coach in NFL history to reach 180 career wins.

Heyward earned first-team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his career, recording 71 tackles, 8.0 sacks, 12 tackles for a loss, 20 quarterback hits and 11 pass defenses, which led all NFL defensive linemen.

It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

Watt was voted the team MVP for a record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. He also was named second-team All-Pro and finalist for NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Arthur Smith, previous head coach for the Atlanta Falcons for three years (2021-23), is in his second season as the Steelers' offensive coordinator in 2025. This marks his 17th year in the National Football League coaching ranks.

The Steelers' offense in 2024 showed signs of progress under Smith. Pittsburgh improved in total offense, rush offense and scoring offense in 2024.

The Steelers leaned heavily on the run, ranking 11th in the League in rush offense (127.4 yards/game) and logging the fourth-most rushing attempts in the NFL.

Pittsburgh's 317.2 yards/game was up from 304.3 in 2023. The Steelers also averaged 22.4 points/game last season, up from 17.9 points/game in 2023. The Steelers threw 21 TD passes in 2024. ARTHUR
SMITH
OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

DANNY SMITH

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Danny Smith is in his 13th season with the Steelers as the special teams coordinator. Smith was hired on January 31, 2013.

Since joining the Steelers in 2015, kicker Chris Boswell is 272-of-309 overall on field goal attempts (88.0%), including 123-of-153 (80.4%) from 40 yards or longer. He ranks second in field goal percentage (88.0%) among all NFL kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts since the start of the 2015 season. Boswell's 88.0 field goal percent ranks first in Steelers history among kickers with at least 300 field goal attempts. He has registered a franchise-record 10 career game-winning field goals (last five min. of the fourth quarter or overtime for a lead change.)

In 2024, Boswell led the NFL in field goals made (41), points by a kicker (158) and field goal percentage (93.2, min. 35 FGA), and also ranked second in field goals attempted (44). His 158 points are tied for the fifth-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. His 41 field goals made in 2024 are the second-most by any kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.

TOM ARTH

QUARTERBACKS COACH

Tom Arth is in his second season as the Steelers' quarterbacks coach in 2025.

The Steelers went from averaging 186.1 yards passing/game with 13 TD passes and nine interceptions in 2023 to 192.0 passing yards/game with 21 TD passes and just six interceptions.

The combination of Russell Wilson and Justin Fields also rushed 105 times for 444 yards and seven more TDs.

Scott McCurley is in his first season as the Steelers' linebackers coach in 2025.

McCurley most recently served as the linebackers coach for the Dallas Cowboys for five seasons (2020-24). With the Cowboys, McCurley guided a linebacker unit that accounted for 22 of the team's 52 sacks during the 2024 season, which was the third-highest total in the NFL. His group was led by Micah Parsons, who recorded a team-best 12.0 sacks on the season, becoming the first player since Reggie White in 1982 to record at least 12.0 sacks in their first four seasons. Parsons went on to be named to his fourth consecutive Pro Bowl in 2024.

Prior to his time with the Cowboys, he spent 13 seasons with the Green Bay Packers working as a defensive assistant (2018), assistant linebackers coach (2014-17), defensive quality control coach (2009-13) and in coaching administration (2006-08). He spent the 2019 season away from football.

Originally a walk-on athlete who redshirted his first year, McCurley earned a scholarship after his freshman season. He lettered all four years at linebacker (1999-2002) and earned a spot on the 1999 Big East All-Academic team. After graduating in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in movement science with a coaching minor, McCurley remained with the program as a defensive graduate assistant, where the 2004 team he coached won the Big East championship and a spot in the Fiesta Bowl.

A native of New Castle, Pa., McCurley attended Mohawk High School in Bessemer, Pa., where he earned all-conference honors in his junior and senior years, playing linebacker and offensive line, while also playing basketball.

DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Karl Dunbar is in his eighth season as the Steelers' defensive line coach and his 19th year as a defensive line coach in the NFL. He was hired by the Steelers on February 8, 2018.

In 2024, Dunbar once again oversaw a productive defensive front. Cameron Heyward earned first-team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his career, recording 71 tackles, 8.0 sacks, 12 tackles for a loss, 20 quarterback hits and 11 pass defenses, which led all NFL defensive linemen.

It was one of Heyward's most complete seasons in his career. He got more votes than any other defensive tackle in the NFL for the Associated Press All-Pro Team, showing just how dominant a season he posted.

T.J. Watt was voted the team MVP for a team-record fifth time after a season in which he had 61 tackles, including 19 for a loss, 11.5 sacks, a league-high six forced fumbles, 27 quarterback hits and four pass defenses. He also was named second-team All-Pro and is a finalist for NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2023, Watt became the first player since 1982, when the individual sack became an official statistic, to lead the League in sacks three times (2020, 2021 and 2023). He surpassed his brother J.J. Watt, Reggie White, DeMarcus Ware, Michael Strahan, Kevin Greene, Mark Gastineau and Jared Allen, who each led the League in sacks twice.

Under the tutelage of Dunbar, Watt became the seventh Steeler (eighth time) in franchise history to be named NFL Defensive Player of the Year, finishing the season with a league-leading 22.5 sacks and 21 TFL (tied with Nick Bosa).

In 2020, Dunbar's defensive line led the League in sacks (56.0), quarterback hits (136) and quarterback pressures (198). The Steelers tied a franchise record with at least 5.0 sacks in three straight games (Weeks 2-6).

EDDIE FAULKNER

RUNNING BACKS COACH

Eddie Faulkner is in his seventh season as the running backs coach for the Steelers, after being hired on January 17, 2019.

The running back group was assured of being a big part of every game plan under first-year offensive coordinator Arthur Smith in 2024. That proved to be the case, as only the Eagles and Ravens ran the ball a higher percentage than the 52.1 the Steelers posted in 2024.

Najee Harris led the way with 263 carries for 1,043 yards and six TDs. He also caught 36 passes for 283 yards. It was Harris' fourth-consecutive 1,000-yard season to open his career, making him just the 14th player in league history to do so.

Faulkner mentored the tandem of Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since Walter Abercrombie and Earnest Jackson in 1986.

In 2022, with Faulkner's guidance, Harris eclipsed 1,000 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, becoming the first running back in franchise history to do so in each of his first two seasons.

Faulkner oversaw the development of Harris in 2021 who led the NFL in touches (377), led all NFL running backs in catches (74) and finished the season with the most rushes (307), rushing yards (1,200), catches and receiving yards (467) by a rookie running back in franchise history, culminating in a trip to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Steelers, Faulkner spent six years, 2013-18, at NC State as the school's tight ends/fullbacks/special teams coordinator.

Faulkner spent the 2012 season at the University of Wisconsin coaching the Badgers' tight ends.

Jacob Pederson won All-Big Ten honors and the League's Kwalick-Clark Tight End of the Year award.

In 2011, Faulkner held the running backs/special teams coordinator title at Northern Illinois University.

Following the 2002 season at Anderson University, Faulkner spent the 2003-10 campaigns at Ball State University, serving as a graduate assistant (2003-04), running backs/special teams (2005-08) and the offensive coordinator/running backs (2009-10), including a stint as the school's interim head coach at the end of the 2010 season.

Faulkner, a member of two Big Ten championship teams as Wisconsin's running back, rushed for 1,064 yards and 7 TDs in his collegiate career from 1996-2000.

DENZEL MARTIN

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS COACH

Watt, who garnered AP First Team All-Pro honors for the fourth time in his seven year career, was selected by the NFL Committee of 101 as the 2023 AFC Defensive Player of the Year. He has now captured the award three times in the last four years (2020, 2021 and 2023).

In his third season in 2022, Martin worked with a defense that consistently improved over the course of the year, holding opponents to 17 points or less through its final seven games.

With Martin's assistance, Watt became the NFL's 2021 Defensive Player of the Year, tallying a career-high 22.5 sacks, 21 tackles for loss and five forced fumbles.

In 2020, Martin assisted with one of the top pass-rushing units in the NFL, which included the tandem of Watt and Bud Dupree, who combined for 23.0 sacks, 56 quarterback hits and 31 tackles for loss.

Prior to joining the Steelers in 2016, Martin spent a year as a recruiting graduate assistant at the University of Missouri in 2015, where he played linebacker from 2010-14. Martin, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received a degree in multidisciplinary studies in 2014 and a master's in education with an emphasis in positive coaching from Missouri in 2015.

In 2023, Watt became the first player since 1982 to lead the League in sacks three times (2020, 2021 and 2023). He surpassed his brother J.J. Watt, Reggie White, DeMarcus Ware, Michael Strahan, Kevin Greene, Mark Gastineau and Jared Allen, who each led the League in sacks twice.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Pat Meyer is entering his fourth season as the Steelers' offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on February 15, 2022.

Meyer, who boasted 20 years of coaching experience prior to his arrival in Pittsburgh, including nine in the NFL, joined the Steelers after two seasons with the Carolina Panthers as their offensive line coach (2020-21). He also coached offensive line in the NFL with the L.A. Chargers (2017-19) and Chicago Bears (2013-14).

The Steelers selected three offensive linemen in the 2024 NFL Draft, taking tackle Troy Fautanu in the first round, center Zach Frazier in the second and guard Mason McCormick in the fourth, one year after the selection of Broderick Jones in the first round and Spencer Anderson in the seventh.

The Steelers started four different line combinations in the first six games because of injuries, but Meyer mentored Frazier with being if not the best rookie offensive linemen in the NFL in 2024, then most certainly the best center.

Isaac Williams is entering his fifth season as the Steelers' assistant offensive line coach in 2025. He was hired by Pittsburgh on March 15, 2022.

McCormick moved into the starting lineup at right guard when James Daniels suffered a season-ending Achilles' tendon injury and played well, particularly showing his chops as a run blocker.

Meyer's unit blocked for Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, who each eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. They're the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season.

In his first year in Pittsburgh, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Prior to Carolina, Meyer served as the offensive line coach for the Chargers for three years, and also spent two seasons with the Buffalo Bills (2015-16).

Meyer began his NFL coaching career with the Chicago Bears, first as an assistant offensive line coach in 2013 before taking over the primary coaching duties in 2014.

Meyer spent one season in the Canadian Football League in 2012, where was an offensive line coach and offensive coordinator for the Montreal Alouettes.

Meyer began coaching as a graduate assistant at Memphis in 1997, where he served multiple roles.

Meyer led the strength and conditioning program at NC State for six years (2000-05) before becoming their offensive line coach in 2006.

In 2007, Meyer headed the strength and conditioning staff at Florida State. He returned to his alma mater, Colorado State, for three seasons (2008-11).

Meyer played offensive line at Colorado State from 1991-94, where he was a three-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection.

Williams aided a unit that blocked for the tandem of Najee Harris and Jaylen Warren, each of whom eclipsed 1,000 scrimmage yards in 2023. Harris and Warren were the fourth duo in franchise history to eclipse 1,000 scrimmage yards in the same season and first since 1986.

In his first year with the Steelers, the run game improved from ranking 24th in the League through the first half of the season, to finishing third-best after Week 10.

Williams came to Pittsburgh after collegiate stints at North Carolina Central University (2021), Morgan State (2018-20) and Northern Colorado (2016-17).

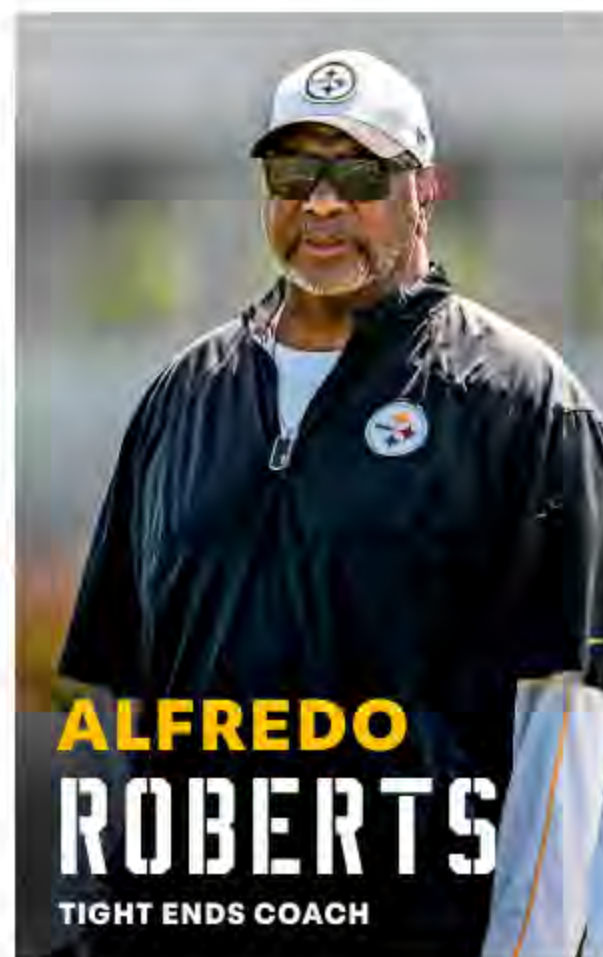

Prior to North Carolina Central, Williams spent three seasons (2018-20) in the MEAC as an offensive line coach/run game coordinator at Morgan State.

While the Bears did not compete in 2020 due to COVID, Williams developed All-MEAC tackle Joshua Miles in 2019, who participated in the East-West Shrine game and was selected by the Arizona Cardinals in the seventh round of the 2019 NFL Draft.

Williams was a four-year starting offensive lineman and three-time captain at Alcorn State (2008-11). He earned all-conference honors as a junior and senior, and graduated with honors. Williams played one season with the Laredo Rattlers of the Arena Football League in 2013.

Williams earned his bachelor's degree in nutrition and dietetics from Alcorn State University in 2012, and then earned his master's degree in education leadership from the University of Northern Colorado in 2017.

Williams has also coached at Millsaps College, Clinton High School (Mississippi) and Sumner Hill Jr. High School (Mississippi).

Roberts, who starts his 27th year of coaching overall, guided Pat Freiermuth and a quartet of tight ends in 2024. Freiermuth led the Steelers in receptions with 65 for 653 yards and a team-best seven TDs. His reception total was tied for eighth-most among NFL tight ends, while his TD total was tied for fourth-most at the position. As a group, the tight ends caught 96 passes for 933 yards and 10 TDs, a big uptick from the 2023 season when they combined for just 62 catches for 536 yards and two scores.

In 2023, Roberts managed a position group beset by injuries. Freiermuth finished the season with 32 receptions for 308 yards (9.6 avg.) and two TDs.

In 2022, Roberts saw another year of success from Freiermuth, who despite injuries, finished the season sixth in receptions (63) and receiving yards (732) among all NFL tight ends. His 63 catches also ranked fourth-most by a tight end in a single season in franchise history.

In 2021, Freiermuth – under Roberts' guidance – set a franchise record for receptions (60) and receiving yards by a rookie tight end (497). His seven touchdowns accounted for almost as many as his entire tight end draft class combined (8).

Roberts spent four seasons with the L.A. Chargers as their running backs coach (2017-19) and tight ends coach (2020). He also coached in Indianapolis (2012-15), Tampa Bay (2009-11), Cleveland (2007-08) and Jacksonville (2003-06).

Over his 20 seasons coaching in the NFL, Roberts has mentored multiple Pro Bowl players at tight end and running back.

Galac came to the Steelers after two seasons at Temple (2022-23). He was the Owls' assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Galac spent nine seasons with the N.Y. Jets (2012-20), including eight as their head strength and conditioning coach. He was responsible for the design and implementation of a strength and conditioning program for both in and off-season training. Galac created a nutrition and hydration plan, rehabilitated injured players, tracked GPS and heart rates and oversaw inventory and maintenance of all strength equipment.

Prior to his tenure with the Jets, Galac served as the strength and conditioning coach for the Villanova football program for seven seasons (2005-11), including 2009 when the Wildcats captured the FCS National Championship. He earned recognition as the 2010 Samson FCS Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year. Galac also oversaw the strength and conditioning program for all 22 Villanova varsity sports.

Galac, who was a graduate assistant at Dickinson College for two years (2003-04), began his coaching career at his alma mater SUNY Brockport in 2002.

Galac played nose tackle and helped SUNY Brockport to a pair of NCAA playoff appearances in 2000 and 2001. He received his undergraduate degree in physical education in 2003.

Galac and his wife, Lauren, have two daughters, Vivienne and Valentina, and a son, Kane.

KEVIN STEFANSKI
HEAD COACH

AP/Associated Press

PRO CAREER: Two-time NFL Coach of the Year Kevin Stefanski enters his sixth season as the Cleveland Browns head coach after being named the 18th full-time head coach in franchise history by Managing and Principal Partners Dee and Jimmy Haslam on Jan. 13, 2020. Stefanski became the 16th coach to win the Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year Award multiple times since its inception in 1957, winning the honors in 2023 and 2020 and joined Forrest Gregg (1976) as the only Browns coaches to win the award. In his five seasons as head coach, Stefanski has led the team to two postseason appearances and two 11-win seasons. He joined Pro Football Hall of Famer Paul Brown (1951 and 1953) as the only coaches in team history to record multiple seasons with at least 11 regular season wins. During the Browns 78-year history, the team has surpassed 6,000 scrimmage yards in a single season just seven times, but have reached the mark in four seasons under Stefanski. Before the Browns, he spent 14 seasons (2006-19) with the Minnesota Vikings and moved up the coaching ladder from assistant to the head coach to offensive coordinator. He gained his first league experience with the Vikings in 2006 as an assistant to the head coach before transitioning to assistant quarterbacks coach from 2009-13, two seasons tutoring the tight ends group (2014-15), one season (2016) as running backs coach, two seasons guiding the quarterbacks (2017-18) and added the role of interim offensive coordinator for the remaining three games of the 2018 season before being promoted to the Vikings' offensive coordinator in 2019. Career record: 41-48.

BACKGROUND: Stefanski played defensive back at Pennsylvania (2000-04) and earned a bachelor's degree in communications.

PERSONAL: Born April 8, 1982, Stefanski is a native of Philadelphia, Pa. He and his wife, Michelle, have two sons, Will, Gabe and one daughter, Juliet.

IN THE COMMUNITY

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The organization's strong commitment to this area dates back to 1933 when Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. founded the team. Current President Art Rooney II is known as one of the most active NFL owners and one of Pittsburgh's most involved executives in civic affairs, as was his father, the late Steelers Chairman Dan Rooney.

Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in appearances, charitable donations, and outreach programs with nonprofit and community groups. It's our way of giving back to the community that has given us so much!

PITTSBURGH STEELERS HISTORY

The fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL, the Pittsburgh Steelers were founded on July 8, 1933, by Arthur Joseph Rooney. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 10-team NFL. The other four current NFL teams in existence at that time were the Chicago (Arizona) Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 25, 1988, following a stroke at the age of 87. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Born on January 27, 1901, in Coulterville, Pa., Art Rooney was the oldest of Daniel and Margaret Rooney's nine children. He grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and until his death he lived on the North Side, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He studied collegiately at Indiana (Pa.) Normal, which is now Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as well as at Georgetown and Duquesne.

An exceptional all-around athlete, Rooney held middleweight and welterweight titles from the AAU Boxing Championships and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He played minor league baseball from 1920-25 before a promising career was cut short by an arm injury. Rooney continued playing football for several semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh area. He was married on June 11, 1931, to Kathleen McNulty, and the couple had five sons — Daniel, Art Jr., Tim, John and Pat. In 1964, Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

By the mid-1960s, Rooney had begun to turn over much of the operation of the Steelers to his oldest son, Dan. After having worked in every area of the organization since 1955, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers in 1975. In 2000, Dan Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined his father Art to form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. The late New York Giants owners Wellington Mara and his father Tim were the first.

Late Steelers Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, spent 54 consecutive years with the organization before being named U.S. Ambassador to Ireland in 2009 by President Barack Obama. Rooney was required to move to Ireland in 2009 to fulfill his duties as ambassador.

As an NFL owner, Dan Rooney was widely recognized as one of the league's most influential executives and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. Among his community activities, he was the co-founder of the American Ireland Fund, and he was a board member of the United Way of America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, the Extra Mile Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Dan Rooney was a member of several NFL committees over 30-plus years. He served on the board of directors for the NFL Trust Fund, NFL Films and the Scheduling Committee. He was appointed chairman of the Expansion Committee in 1973, which considered new franchise locations and directed the addition of Seattle and Tampa Bay as expansion teams in 1976.

In 1976, Rooney was also named chairman of the Negotiating Committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the Collective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL and the Players Association. He again played a key role in the labor agreement reached between NFL owners and players in 1993. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the realignment plan and scheduling format that the NFL adopted prior to the 2002 season. In October 2002, he was named chairman of the NFL's Diversity in the Workplace Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. In February 1999, he was named the recipient of the Philadelphia Maxwell Football Club's Francis J. "Reds" Bagnell Award for outstanding contributions to the game of football.

Daniel M. Rooney was born on Pittsburgh's North Side on July 20, 1932. He was a 1950 graduate of North Catholic High School, where he played quarterback on the varsity football team. He went on to graduate from Duquesne University in 1955 with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting. Rooney passed away on April 13, 2017 at the age of 84, survived at the time by his wife of 66 years, Patricia (who passed away in 2021), and seven of their nine children, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dan Rooney was named Steelers Chairman Emeritus in July 2009 after he was named United States Ambassador to Ireland. Rooney served as United States Ambassador until late 2012.

In 2003, Dan Rooney officially turned over the title of Steelers team president to his oldest son, Arthur J. Rooney II, who had previously served as the team's president and general counsel. A 1978 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in political science, Art II received his law degree from Duquesne University School of Law in 1982. He currently serves as Chairman of the NFL's Stadium Workplace Diversity Committee as well as the Chair of the NFL Compensation Committee. He also serves on additional NFL committees including the Legislative Committee, the Management Council Executive Committee, the International Committee, Health & Safety Advisory Committee and the NFL Foundation.

Art Rooney II is also very active in the Pittsburgh community, devoting a substantial amount of his time to various organizations. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board of St. Vincent College, Chairman of the board of the Chuck Noll Foundation for Brain Injury Research, and he serves on several other non-profit boards including United Way of Southwest Pennsylvania and the Board of Trustees for the University of Pittsburgh.

July 29, 2000 – Art and Dan Rooney form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

1930s After founding the Pirates in 1933,

Art Rooney watched his club struggle through its first seven seasons with just 22 wins and five different head coaches. While home games were played at Forbes Field, Rooney often took his team to such cities as Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s due to competition with baseball and college football.

In 1938, Rooney signed Colorado All-American Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in rushing that year and became one of the NFL's most illustrious alumni. He served 31 years as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court before retiring in 1993.

1950s Succeeding Sutherland, John Michelosen was head coach for the 1948-51 seasons, compiling a 20-26-2 record. In 1952, Joe Bach returned for his second stint with the Steelers, having coached the team previously in 1935-36. The Steelers became the last team to abandon the single wing for the T-formation in 1952.

Bach resigned for health reasons following the 1954 season and was replaced by assistant coach Walt Kiesling, who had been the Steelers' head coach twice previously. Kiesling's three stints covered the 1939-40, 1941-44 and the 1954-56 campaigns.

STEELERS HISTORY

The Steelers are the fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL. The team was founded on July 8, 1933.

1940s In 1940, Rooney changed the team name to the Pittsburgh Steelers, representing the heritage of Pittsburgh. The first winning record in the organization's history came in 1942 when head coach Walt Kiesling led the Steelers to a 7-4 finish with the league-leading rushing of rookie Bill Dudley. But the next year, Dudley joined the Armed Forces along with many other NFL players as the nation went to war. With rosters depleted, Rooney merged the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Phil-Pitt "Steagles") and with the Chicago Cardinals (Card-Pitt) in 1944.

Rooney hired legendary Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and Dudley returned from the war to earn NFL MVP honors, leading the league in rushing, interceptions and punt returns. Today, Dudley is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Sutherland led the 1947 Steelers to an 8-4 record and a share of the Eastern division title, but they lost their first-ever postseason game 21-0 to Philadelphia. Sutherland died suddenly the following spring while on a scouting trip.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Steelers signed Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL.

1960s Buddy Parker was named head coach in 1957 and over the next eight years he led the Steelers to five non-losing seasons. Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne led the team through three of those campaigns, leading the Steelers to a 9-5 mark and a playoff game versus Detroit in 1962, which the Steelers lost 17-10. Parker completed his tenure with a 51-48-6 record and ranks fourth among all-time Steelers coaches for career wins.

On October 25, 1964, the Steelers made team history when they retired jersey No. 70 in honor of former defensive tackle Ernie Stautner. Stautner, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1969, became the first Steelers player to have his jersey retired.

Brief head coaching stints by Mike Nixon in 1965 and Bill Austin from 1966-68 preceded the hiring of 37-year-old Chuck Noll on January 27, 1969. Noll began to rebuild the Steelers through the draft, starting with the defense when he selected defensive tackle Joe Greene with his first choice in 1969. Today, Greene is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and joined Stautner as the only three players to have their jerseys retired by the team. Greene's No. 75 was officially retired on November 2, 2014.

A 1-13 record in 1969 gave the Steelers the first overall choice in the 1970 draft, with which Noll addressed the offense by selecting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, another Hall of Famer, after the Steelers won the first selection by winning a coin toss with the Chicago Bears. Cornerback Mel Blount was added in the third round that year, followed by linebacker Jack Ham in 1971 and running back Franco Harris in 1972. In all, Noll drafted 10 players who are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame including three in his first 20 picks and four of his first 38.

Two significant changes took place in 1970. The Steelers moved from the NFL Century Division to the AFC Central with the merger of the American Football League and the NFL. The Steelers also moved into a new home as Three Rivers Stadium opened. Previously, the Steelers had played home games at Forbes Field from 1933-57 and at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium from 1958-63. From 1964-69, the Steelers played at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers opened in 1970.

Gradual improvement in the early 1970s resulted in the team's first division title in 1972 with an 11-3 record. In the first playoff game at Three Rivers, the Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 13-7 with Franco Harris' "Immaculate Reception" in the final minute. Despite a 21-17 loss the following week to the undefeated Miami Dolphins, the Steelers had reached a new plateau.

It took 40 years for the Steelers to finally win their first division title, but over the next decade they achieved a level of success unprecedented in professional football.

In 1973, the Steelers won a wild card playoff berth with a 10-4 record. Oakland avenged their loss from the previous year, however, with a 33-14 defeat of the Steelers in the playoffs.

January 29, 1974 – The Steelers select future Hall of Famers Lynn Swann (first round), Jack Lambert (second), John Stallworth (fourth) and Mike Webster (fifth) in the NFL Draft. Many consider it the best draft in NFL history. Following the draft, the Steelers also signed free agent Donnie Shell, who was elected into the Hall of Fame in 2020.

The Steelers won their first of six consecutive AFC Central titles in 1974 and marched past Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) en route to their first Super Bowl appearance in Super Bowl IX. The fierce Pittsburgh defense led the way to a 16-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, and Art Rooney was presented the Vince Lombardi Trophy for the first time.

In 1975, the Steelers won 11 straight games to finish 12-2 and claimed their second-consecutive division crown. After defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) in the playoffs, the Steelers became the third team in NFL history, joining Green Bay and Miami, to win back-to-back Super Bowls with a 21-17 defeat of the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

The 1976 Steelers struggled to a 1-4 start before reeling off nine straight victories, including five shutouts, to win the division with a 10-4 mark. They defeated Baltimore 40-14 in the playoffs, but lost to Oakland 24-7 after both starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, were injured. The following year, the Steelers dropped a 34-21 decision to Denver in the first round of the playoffs after posting a 9-5 regular-season record.

In 1978, the Steelers made history after a league-best 14-2 regular season and playoff wins versus Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5). Their 35-31 Super Bowl XIII win versus Dallas made the Steelers the first team to win three Super Bowls.

Yet another standard was set the following year when the 1979 Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV to make them the first team in history to win four Super Bowls and the only team to win back-to-back Super Bowls twice. The Super Bowl victory followed a 12-4 regular-season record and playoff wins versus Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13). With six consecutive AFC Central crowns, eight straight years of playoff appearances and four Super Bowl championships, the Steelers were tagged the "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

As the 1980s opened, the Steelers stumbled, failing to make the playoffs in 1980 and 1981 with records of 9-7 and 8-8.

In 1982, the Steelers celebrated the team's 50th anniversary by qualifying for the playoffs with a 6-3 finish in a strike-interrupted season. During the season, an anniversary banquet was held to commemorate the team's first 50 seasons and to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan voting. Thousands of fans were attracted to Pittsburgh for a week of activities and exhibits before the anniversary season was ended by San Diego's 31-28 win in the playoffs. This would be the last playoff game at Three Rivers Stadium until the 1992 season, a span of 10 years.

The 1983 Steelers won their eighth division title with a 10-6 record, but fell in the postseason, 38-10, to the Los Angeles Raiders. The following year, the Steelers won their ninth division crown and the team advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 playoff win at Denver. A 45-28 loss to Miami in the AFC Championship game prevented the Steelers from a fifth Super Bowl appearance.

The Steelers' streak of 13 consecutive non-losing seasons came to an end in 1985 with a 7-9 finish, followed by a 6-10 record in 1986. Playoff hopes remained alive in 1987 until the Steelers lost their last two games to finish 8-7 during the strike-shortened season.

In 1988, the team suffered through its worst campaign in 19 years with a 5-11 record. The next season got off to a similar start with losses of 51-0 and 41-10 in the first two games. But the young team fought back to finish 9-7 and earn a wild card playoff berth on the season's final weekend. An exciting 26-23 overtime playoff win in Houston was followed by a heartbreaking 24-23 divisional playoff loss at Denver in which the Steelers led until the final minutes.

STEELERS HISTORY

In 1992, 34-year-old Bill Cowher became the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time. In his first season, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984.

AP/Rusty Kennedy

1990s

A 9-7 finish in 1990 left the Steelers in a three-way tie for the AFC Central lead, but they were eliminated from playoff contention by a 2-4 division record. The 1991 team finished second in the division despite a 7-9 record, winning the last two games under Noll at home against the Cincinnati Bengals and Cleveland Browns.

On December 26, 1991, Noll announced his retirement from football after 39 consecutive seasons, the last 23 as the Steelers' head coach, which made him one of only four men to coach the same team for 23 consecutive years. He left as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history with an overall record of 209-156-1, and as the only coach to win four Super Bowls. Noll was rewarded in 1993 with his election to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

A new era began in 1992 with the retirement of Noll and the arrival of 34-year-old Bill Cowher, the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time he assumed control. In the first season of the new era, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984 with an 11-5 record. While the team enjoyed new-found success, Cowher was recognized by the Associated Press as the NFL's Coach of the Year and six Steelers were selected to the Pro Bowl, the most in more than a decade.

Under Cowher, the Steelers became the first AFC team since the 1970 merger to claim its 10th division title. Their 11-5 record equaled the best in the conference and gave the Steelers home field advantage throughout the playoffs. However, in the first postseason game at Three Rivers Stadium in exactly 10 years, the Steelers were defeated by eventual AFC Champion Buffalo, 24-3.

In 1993, the Steelers earned a wild card playoff berth, marking their first consecutive playoff appearances since the 1983-84 seasons. A 9-7 record was good for second place in the division, but the season ended in a 27-24 overtime loss at Kansas City in an AFC Wild Card game.

The 1994 Steelers won seven of their final eight regular-season games for their strongest finish since 1978. They captured their second division title in three years with an AFC-best 12-4 record. After a 29-9 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first round of the playoffs, Pittsburgh hosted its first AFC Championship game since 1979. The game went down to the wire and the Steelers lost to the San Diego Chargers 17-13.

At 38, Bill Cowher became the youngest head coach to lead his team to a Super Bowl appearance in 1995. Along the way, Cowher's team captured its third AFC Central division title in four years, made its fourth straight playoff appearance and won the Steelers' first AFC title since 1979. After a first-round bye, they defeated the Buffalo Bills (40-21) and the Indianapolis Colts (20-16), before losing to the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX in Tempe, Ariz.

In 1996, the Steelers finished 10-6 and earned their fifth consecutive trip to the playoffs. Cowher ended the season with 57 career victories, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in team history, behind his predecessor Noll.

The Steelers captured their fourth consecutive AFC Central title in 1997 while posting an 11-5 record. They were one play away from earning their sixth Super Bowl appearance but lost to Denver 24-21 in the AFC Championship game.

In 1998, the Steelers finished a disappointing 7-9, losing their last five regular-season games and missing the playoffs for the first time under Cowher.

The Steelers suffered their second consecutive losing season in 1999, when their record fell to 6-10.

The 1984 Steelers won their ninth division title with a 9-7 record.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for being the final season for the Steelers at Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers were 4-4 at home during their final season, including victories in four of their final six home games. The Steelers won their final game at Three Rivers, 24-3, against the Washington Football Team on Dec. 16.

The Steelers finished 31 seasons at Three Rivers Stadium (1970-2000) with a 182-72 home record, including the postseason. The Steelers recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (440,428) since 1998 in the final season, including a season-high 58,183 fans during the final game in stadium history.

The Steelers began a new era in team history in 2001 with the opening of their new stadium, Heinz Field. The Steelers posted an AFC-best 13-3 regular-season record, including a 7-1 mark at home, and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

The inaugural game was originally scheduled to be a nationally televised Sunday Night game on Sept. 16. However, the September 11 terrorist attacks on America forced the NFL to postpone all games that weekend — which were eventually rescheduled for the end of the season. As a result, the Steelers opened the stadium on Sunday, Oct. 7 with a 16-7 win against the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Steelers defeated the defending Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens 27-10 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs, in the first-ever postseason game played at Heinz Field. However, they suffered a disappointing 24-17 loss at home in the AFC Championship Game to the eventual Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots.

After an 0-2 start in 2002, the Steelers rallied to make the playoffs for the second consecutive season. However, the team's Super Bowl hopes ended when they lost 34-31 in overtime to the Tennessee Titans on the road.

The Steelers began the 2003 season with a 34-15 victory against AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens. However, the team never regained that magic and finished the year with a 6-10 record and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

The Steelers set a team record in 2004 by becoming the first AFC team to win 15 games (15-1) in the regular season. They ultimately advanced to the AFC Championship Game where they lost to the New England Patriots 41-27. Nine Steelers were selected to play in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, the team's most since the 1979 season.

Pittsburgh found itself sitting at 7-5 after 12 games in 2005, but rallied to win its final four regular-season games to earn the AFC's sixth seed in the playoffs. The Steelers then won an unprecedented three straight road playoff games to gain a berth in Super Bowl XL in Detroit versus the Seattle Seahawks.

Ward also hauled in a game-clinching 43-yard TD pass from Antwaan Randle El on a gadget play midway through the fourth quarter.

The 2006 season saw the Bill Cowher era come to an end with the Steelers finishing the season winning six of their final eight games to post an 8-8 record on the year.

On January 5, 2007, Bill Cowher resigned as Steelers head coach with a 161-99-1 overall record, second-best in team history.

The Steelers hired 34-year old Mike Tomlin as the team's head coach on January 22, 2007, becoming the NFL's youngest head coach at the time.

Tomlin became the second first-year coach in team history to make the playoffs in 2007. The Steelers finished with a 10-6 overall record and won the AFC North division title.

STEELERS HISTORY

▼ Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

Tomlin became the first coach in franchise history to win a division title in each of his first two seasons when the Steelers captured their second consecutive AFC North division title with a 12-4 record in 2008. They went on to defeat the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Ravens to gain a berth in Super Bowl XLIII in Tampa, Fla. versus the Arizona Cardinals.

The Steelers became the first NFL franchise to capture six Super Bowl titles when they defeated the Cardinals 27-23. With the victory, Tomlin became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl in NFL history (36 years, 323 days). Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

2010s

The Steelers added to their legacy, making it all the way to Super Bowl XLV after a 12-4 record during the 2010 season. The team could not overcome an early 18-point deficit and fell to the Green Bay Packers 31-25. Despite the loss, the Steelers still are tied for the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories with six (New England Patriots).

Pittsburgh followed up the Super Bowl appearance with another 12-win season in 2011. The Steelers overcame injuries to key players on both sides of the ball to earn their 26th playoff berth since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. The 12 victories marked only the second time in team history that Pittsburgh recorded back-to-back regular seasons with at least 12 victories (1978-79). The Steelers again showcased one of the league's best defenses, leading the NFL in pass defense and being the only team to register two shutouts. Hines Ward became the eighth player in NFL history to record at least 1,000 receptions and 12,000 receiving yards and Antonio Brown became the first player in NFL history with at least 1,000 receiving yards and 1,000 return yards in the same season.

Origins of an Icon

WATT HAS A BIRD'S EYE
VIEW OF THE GAME

BY TERESA VARLEY
STEELERS.COM

THE GAME

For a minute, it seemed like defensive tackle Cameron Heyward was just asking his teammate, linebacker T.J. Watt, when he said he has such a good feeling for his opponent, defensive line center Eric Wedderburn, that he probably knows what they had for breakfast this morning.

Crucy part is, he isn't that far off.

Along Watt was aware if they had pancakes or eggs this morning, but he gives enough of a hint as to what he's studying of their tendencies and every move they make on the field.

"He's just got a fast eye view," said Heyward. "He's covering it all from stances to formations to what they're doing for breakfast. You just never know."

"He just appreciates the game and every detail concern."

Watt laughed at the perception, as he sat back in an oversized leather chair at the Steelers' hotel in Dublin, Ireland just a few weeks back.

Then, he gave a bit, knowing Heyward wasn't that far off.

"I think it's just being observed with the process," said Watt. "We always been involved with the work that goes into what creates the result, and that's just hearing from watching my brothers (L.J. and Devin) Watt) succeed over the years, being able to figure that out in his own way of what it takes to be successful."

"I think that's really critical too."

That direct aspect of his personality, that obsession, is something that sticks during the season, but it's also something that can be confusing.

And it starts with his film study.

You will be hard pressed to find a player not just in the Steelers locker room, but league wide, who gets in the time and dedication Watt does to film study.

He prefers it. He loves it.

Even if sometimes it's a bit.

"Too much, I mean too much," said Watt. "I do so much that I annoy my wife. Don't help me watch film, especially game tapes. But I think it's just being very regimented is what it's each and every day. Every day have a different set of film study, whether it's tactics diagrams, tackle stances, tight ends, end of, man-to-man. Obviously, sometimes circumstances can."

"And then you get into the actual TV tapes, which we're trying to listen to the snap count and things of that nature."

He isn't worried about it.

"Absolutely you make sure you don't give anything away," said Watt. "But when your husband is a damn good, you don't have to worry about it. That's what I think."

When it comes to his "football," his game is beyond compare.

"When you have to prepare for a player like him, you've got to know he takes it seriously," said Heyward. "He prepares for every situation, and he's going to find every weakness you do have on the offensive side of the ball."

"So, that's a real any question that you have to be ready for T.J. Watt. He's just prepared."

With the changes his Steelers made in defense this offseason, bringing in a handful of new players on the front and back end, there have been some adjustments that have had to be made by the defense as a whole just to adapt to each other.

For a player like Watt, that could be disruptive.

"HE'S COVERING IT ALL FROM STANCES TO FORMATIONS TO WHAT THEY'RE EATING FOR BREAKFAST.."

—CAMERON HEYWARD

When Watt likes to study the tendencies of others, he is one who has his own tendencies.

His temper is unpredictable. Defined by a smile.

Don't ask him to change the reality. Because if anyone is a creature of habit, it's Watt.

"I do like it, I do," admitted Watt. "I mean, it's a blessing and a curse at times for sure."

The key for him, though, is to make sure he doesn't allow that obsession of habit approach to show in his play and not obscure what he is doing.

But for him, though.

"I think a lot of the new guys are veteran guys, with a bunch of young guys," said Watt. "The reality of young guys, the ones learn with me, are the guys up front. They all understand what Pittsburgh Steelers football is. I think that's a standard for the team that has been built here over time and it's getting all to get and coming to play better."

"We're starting to play better and better football and we want to control that together as we continue to build a cohesive unit."

Among those young players that refers to the robust Derrick Harmon, Rahke Black and Jack Sawyer, Watt is using his part-time help there adopt to the Steelers way and which even the old and out, something he mentioned from a former player.

"I'm staying back, going back to the game," said Watt. "I had no many veterans than with guys to risk what I feel got here. So, it's important for me to give back."

"It also keeps me engaged when I'm teaching younger guys how our defense is or how to pick back."

Through his years with the team, and his role as a captain, Watt has developed into a player who doesn't hesitate to share with the younger players, whether it's advice, tips or constructive criticism to help them grow their game.

"I tell them things from personal experience," said Watt. "I come from a good place. And I try to explain why, instead of just telling them not to do something."

"We have a good team, Vince, I have Sawyer, everybody's so great and receptive to getting coaching. Nobody's like, 'ah, I don't want to hear from you.' So, that's been really cool. We just overall had a really good year."

"There's more distribution all over this year," said Watt. "That has been really nice. I think especially in my role, specifically with Sawyer coming along. It's great to be able to trust him to take plays and make plays. It allows us to be better in the fourth quarter, which is going to help the team, especially after in the playoffs."

Watt has already worked with third-year linebacker Nick Herbig, helping to mold the outside number not just on the field, but giving him the path to follow to be successful off the field.

When it comes to doing the same with Sawyer, the team's fourth-round draft pick out of Ohio State.

"I watch how he has mold Nick Herbig," said Harmon. "And now I see how much time he spends with Jack Sawyer. And that's not it."

"There are other guys, players like Jellie (Herschel), DeMarion Leal and even Derrick Harmon. I think he wants to pour into those guys and make sure they really have a chance to succeed."

Pouring into younger players truly is something Watt enjoys. He is an open book for that question, not wanting to keep any secrets because the more they know, the better the team is.

"It's cool. It really is to be around young guys who are hungry," said Watt. "Watt is an extremely hungry guy. He reminds me of myself. He's always wanting to learn and grow and get better. Even if he has a good game, he's trying to pick apart the plays that he didn't have as much success with and trying to figure out how he can continue to get better."

"Sawyer's falling in line as well. It just adds to that depth we were talking about."

It's depth that plays off each other well. Through his first two games of the season, Watt didn't have a single sack, although he has three over the last two games.

His lack of numbers didn't because of what he was doing each on.

It's what a good sack looks like.

Watt is known as a game-wrecker, and upsetting the status quo and doing everything in their power to come up with a plan to increase the impact, and that often means double or triple teaming the 48 lbs edge rusher.

When they do that, though, it opens up other players to make plays. Including Sawyer who recorded his first career sack thanks in part to Watt.

—JACK SAWYER

GAME WRECKER

OPPOSING OFFENSIVE COORDINATORS ARE DOING EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO COME UP WITH A PLAN TO MINIMIZE HIS IMPACT.

"He's always getting triple and quadruple teamed," said Sawyer. "My seat, he had three guys in front, so I told him, 'bunk you.'"

"It affects the game in so many ways. Even when it might not show up on a stat sheet because he's the best in the world."

"So, obviously the teams that were playing us going to draw a game plan for him to either he's going to destroy it. For him, he's been affecting the game in so many more ways than the average eye might see."

"He's the best in the world."

Herbig said it's like the Sleepy Curry effect, referring to the Golden State Warriors All-Star who continuously draws attention from opponents to try and minimize his impact.

"That's the impact right there. The attention he gets," said Herbig. "It's like Steph Curry. Teams picking him up with two guys. T.J.'s taking away from their game plan, which gives us opportu- nities to score and win games."

"We know that T.J. is going to get triple-teamed in almost every play, so we have to take advantage."

And there is clearly Watt wants to take advantage of this year, and in the infusion of talent that he hopes allowed for it.

For all the individual success he has had in his career, there is still one thing he wants.

A championship.

While he might miss a few games each week, he isn't allowing himself to obsess over getting that shiny victory. At least not anymore.

"It's everything. It really is," said Watt of striving for a championship win. "I've had so much individual success, that it's the only thing of this kind. It's just winning."

"But it's also not sitting in control this hard and now, I think in years past, it was almost too much at an individual about the performance that you have right now and season."

"I want to take it one day at a time, one week at a time and handle that stuff once we get there."

"I feel like I can approach it that way. Now, it's part of being with a team that has so many great players either, so many people that are fun to be around that we're just able to be in the moment."

And if there is even a time Watt wants to be in the moment, it's now.

He and his wife Dani welcomed their first child, daughter Bakery, in March. While it hasn't changed his approach to the game, to film study, or to anything surrounding football, it has changed life for him.

The minute his daughter's name was even mentioned, he went from focused on the game to a smiling, proud dad to a footballer.

"It's changed everything," said Watt.

"This perspective has absolutely changed for the best. Honestly, it allows me one day to be a dad and enjoy a little bit."

"I stop the obsession at times of football and film study. Even though I still find time to get in what I have to and go to, from when I get home, I'm dad until she goes to bed, and then I'm allowed to switch over to football mode."

"There is just so much changing day-to-day. It really is unfortunate how much you also miss. All off the field I was around her so much because you only work, and you have treatment and then you have the rest of the day to relax and spend time with Bakery and Dani. But now that I'm in season, I have before she's awake and then I get home and I'm only with her for an hour, maybe an hour and a half before she goes to bed."

"So, it's just challenging as much time I can have with her, but also really respecting and appreciating any time for all that she does for our family."

"When I ask is that fair, I make sure I don't think football for a minute, I do my best. It can be tough."

"Most of a high level football is very relaxed in my life right now."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the NFL's head coach in Pittsburgh's SteelCity on January 22, 2007. At the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1960.

In his 10 seasons as head coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A "winners' coach" for stability in the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured active head coaches entering the 2025 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (28 years, 223 days), a record that held for 67 years, until he was surpassed by Sean McVay in Super Bowl LVII (34 years, 218 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the third to win a Super Bowl title in his first NFL season.

During his head coaching tenure in Pittsburgh, Tomlin has led the Steelers to seven AFC North titles, most recently in 2020, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs 12 times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and LVII). Tomlin has won at least five home games in 11 of the first 18 years, including six in 2021. In his 10 seasons, he has never had a losing record.

Tomlin is the only head coach in League history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 18 consecutive winning seasons. He has won 61 Steelers as a 300-career record, a club of which 18 coaches, as head coaches, had in the Pittsburgh Steelers' 60-year history as head coaches in NFL history.

Tomlin has been a part of 82 consecutive NFL's January Pro Bowl, including the first playoff win against the Cleveland Browns in the 2004 season. Additionally, Tomlin was named by Sports Illustrated as the NFL's "Comeback Coach" for March 2023.

Tomlin is just the eighth coach in NFL history to win a Super Bowl within the first two seasons as head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons of the team, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLIII. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 200-129-2 record in his regular season as a coach, becoming the NFL's head coach in 2007—his second full season in the NFL, during that time having led only Andy Reid, 94-136-128-2 regular season record (1926) in the head coach of the franchise.

Tomlin's 180 regular season wins tie the franchise record, among active NFL head coaches, and rank fourth in the 120-year history of the NFL. His 202 regular season win percentage is the sixth highest in NFL history (minimum 150 games).

Tomlin's 180 regular season wins put him in the second-most in a coach's first 28 career seasons, the 192 regular season win percentage is the fifth best in a head coach's first 28 career seasons.

Tomlin, who took over in NFL history with a regular season record of 78 games over 150, Bill Belichick, Andy Reid, and Matt Schaub are the only coaches in NFL history with career records of 70 or more games over 300 wins in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Tomlin is one of two active NFL head coaches with over 180 victories and one of five active NFL head coaches to defeat at least 33 current NFL franchises.

2015 victory at Pittsburgh in Week 10 of 2024, Tomlin became the sixth head coach in NFL history to reach 188 career wins. He registered 180 wins in 283 games coached, which sets the fifth-best career coach in League history to reach 180 wins.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 33rd season in 2024, the 11th time Pittsburgh has reached the playoffs since joining the league. The Steelers played seven regular season games in 2024 playoff teams. Pittsburgh's seven regular season games played in 2024 playoff teams was tied for the fourth-most in the NFL. The Steelers are victims vs. opponents that finished 2024 with a winning record over the 10th-most in the NFL.

Tomlin led the Steelers to another 33rd season in 2023, the 10th time Pittsburgh has reached the playoffs since joining the league. The Steelers played eight regular season games in 2023 playoff teams, including both Super Bowl and first in the week. Pittsburgh's eight regular season games played in 2023 playoff teams was tied for the eighth-most in the NFL. Five Steelers in the League that qualified for the playoffs played at least eight games in 2023 playoff teams and only Baltimore played more than seven games and reached the playoffs. The Steelers' 2023 regular season wins in 2023 playoff teams was tied for the third-most in the NFL this season.

Tomlin's young 2022 team received momentum over the course of the season, culminating in Tomlin's 200th career win, at 300 in three weeks in Week 9. The Steelers started the season at 2-6 before their Week 9 loss, and won 7 of the next 10 games. Pittsburgh's offense finished the first three drives on conversion table and the third-most rushing yards in the League from Week 10 through 20 after starting the season behind 24th in offense. Defensively, Pittsburgh improved their ranking 20th in opponent sacks to the top of the league's defense in the top 10 in the second half of the season, allowing an NFL and 27.5 yards per game following their bye week. The Steelers defense also improved in going off the field over the 34th week, allowing the third-most total yards per game (38) and leading the league's interception (12). The team's 20 interceptions of the season tied for the most in the League.

The Pittsburgh Steelers Hall of Honor, established with its inaugural class of 27 members in 2017, is comprised of former players, coaches and front office personnel who were integral in creating and sustaining the franchise's success dating back to when the team was founded in 1933.

Each Hall of Honor inductee received a replica of the steel steel football that was given to Steelers founder Art Rooney Sr. by the United States Steel Corporation and United Steel Workers in 1992 to commemorate the team's 60th season. The footballs are on display in the Steelers Hall of Honor Museum located in Acrisure Stadium, which provides opportunities for fans to learn more about the franchise, view rare artifacts preserved by the team, and relive the biggest moments and people in Steelers history.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS HISTORY

The 100-member bandline for the 1974-75 Pittsburgh Steelers were formed on Jan. 12, 1975, by 10th-grade students. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 12-team NFL. The other five teams in NFL's branch at the time of that time were the Chicago (National Football League), Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great survivors of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 20, 2008, following a stroke at the age of 87. "Doc Choke" as he was affectionately known, is remembered in the The Football Hall of Fame and is interred at rest of Pittsburgh's greatest hero.

Born on January 27, 1926, in Coonamsville, Pa., Art Francis was the eldest of James and Margaret Ramsey's four children. He grew up in Old Middletown, near Jersey, as Philadelphia's North Side, and still lives closely by hand on the North Side, just a short distance from where "Dad" Snow (William Alford,

Rooney interned at St. Peter's Residential Services (now St. Peter's Community Care) in 1970. He attended college at Indiana State University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and at the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

By the mid-1980s, Ramsey had begun to turn her mind to the question of his father's role in the 1950s. One day, after having worked in every one of the organization since 1950, Daniel M. Ramsey (named president of the American in 1975, in 2000, Tom Ramsey was inducted into the Hall of Fame). Half of the way. We found the father. It is hard to say. The answer is that he was not involved in the formation of the Hall of Fame. The late New York Times writer, Raymond Chandler, was a factor in the late.

[illegible]

As an FBI suspect, Earl Stennis was widely recognized as one of the nation's most influential politicians, and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. During his increasingly turbulent life, he was the chairman of the American United Fund, and for one a board member of the United Way in America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh Library for Learning Disabilities Foundation, the Delta Delta Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Don Branning was a pioneer of aerial MPL. He was over 30 years old when he was one of the first to fly the 1945 Ford Roadster. He was also the first to fly the 1945 Ford Roadster. He was also the first to fly the 1945 Ford Roadster. He was also the first to fly the 1945 Ford Roadster.

In 2006, Rooney was also named chairwoman of the Regulatory Committee, and in 2002 he was selected to be the supervisor for the Collapsing Bearpaw Aqueduct for the MFL and the Plains Association. He again issued a vote this in the same aqueduct, but not between MFL members, also elected in 2005. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the management plan on a watershed basis. He had the 20% approval given in the 2000 election. In October 2002, he was second place winner of the MFL Director in the Moderator Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Trust of the Plains Committee. In February 2003, he was named the co-chair of the Plains Citizens' Meeting. Rooney's efforts in the MFL have been a success in developing a community to help grow the economy.

Oliver (M. Jimmy) was born on February 3, 1963, on May 10, 1963. He was a 1976 graduate of North Carolina High School, where he played quarterback on the football team. He went on to graduate from Chapman University in 1980 with a Bachelor's in a degree in Accounting. Oliver married Joann on April 13, 2007 at the age of 44, married at the time by the wife of 48 years. Oliver, who played golf in 2001, met Joann of his own volition. Joann graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1980, where she was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. Oliver and Joann have three children: Oliver Jr. (born 1990), Joann (born 1992), and Oliver III (born 1994). Oliver and Joann are both members of the United Methodist Church.

The Bureau did accept Steven Clinton Brown on 20 July 2008 after he was found Unfit Under Assistance is Invalid. Brown stayed in United States Ambassadorial until late 2012.

2003, the Boway officials turned out this time a different chair candidate in his stead: Joe Nelson. Boway's other chief prosecutor, known as the team's accident and injuries counsel, is 2004 prosecutor of the University of Pittsburgh's case. After missing the 2000 season, the Broncos returned to the top of the league in 2001, winning the AFC West.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for losing the first season in the Stadium at Invesco Stadium. The Broncos won their first game at Invesco Stadium, 24-13, against the Seattle Seahawks on Sept. 10.

The Broncos finished 11 seasons at Invesco Stadium (1970-2000) with a 242-172 record, including the playoffs. The Broncos recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (83,428) since 2000 at the time, including a season-high 108,200 fans during the final game in attendance.

THE birth of the towel 1975

Origins of an icon

During the 1975 playoffs, Steelers wide receiver Myron Cope was told by coachhead Tom Donahoe to wrap them in steel wool or yellow towels. At the first playoff game, The Terrible Towel debuted on December 27, 1975, during the Steelers' 28-17 AFC title game win over the Oakland Raiders. The towel did your bidding, earning the edge for the 10-17 Super Bowl X victory over Dallas.

1978

First Sales

In 1978, a custom Steelers Super Bowl logo sweater ($24) appeared to go along with it. The towels, sold in 100,000 units, became the first thing they sold.

"The Terrible Towel is poised to strike!"

STIRRED UP, TOGETHER

COOKING, LIKE SOCIAL CHANGE, IS AN IMPERFECT ART

Our justice system can be very messy, especially when it comes to the way it works (or doesn't) for young people.

Know what it takes to get at-risk youth on a more employable, more profitable, more successful path forward? A community that actively works to give them back their dreams.

That's what we're doing here. That's what you're doing there. So get stirred up with us and together we can make some change.
